WE NOMINATE

Frederick Harris Harbison, one of this country's leading authorities in the broad area of industrial relations, whose studies of human resources and the 20th Century crusade for high-talent manpower continue to attract growing attention in the Western World. Out of New York this week came the announcement from the Carnegie Corporation of New York that the 47-year old Harbison, a full-time Princetonian since 1955, will be one of the guiding forces in the $200,000 "Four-University Study of Labor Problems in Economic Development," a long-range program beamed at determining "the most advantageous investments" nations can make in the development of strategic manpower resources.

This major undertaking, involving the University of California and M.I.T. as well as Princeton, is closely related to the comparative studies of management and labor problems Harbison and associated social scientists have carried forward in various parts of the world in the past decade. In recent years Harbison has been as apt to turn up in Egypt, Nigeria or Germany as he has been on Nassau Street or San Francisco's Market Street. Wherever he has been, he has been concerned with careful forward planning for manpower needs whether on the West Coast of Africa or in the highly developed American economy.

Three years ago, in a thin, "packed" volume he published in collaboration with James Douglas Brown, Dean of the Princeton Faculty and his predecessor as Director of Princeton's Industrial Relations Section, Harbison—writing on "The Development of Human Recources in the Newly Industrializing Countries"—came forward with a tough thesis that made many planners blink. It is a "cruel but compelling mandate" of rapid industrialization, according to Harbison, that the present "have-not Nations" should concentrate on traioing the able few before undertaking the upgrading of populations on a mass basis.

Pittsburgh-born, Princeton-trained and the brother of historian E. Harris Harbison, this versatile economist was called back to Princeton from the University of Chicago where he had taught since 1940 and had also been Executive Officer of the Industrial Relations Section. Indicative of his interests in establishing broader avenues of communication between education on the one hand and management, labor and government on the other, Harbison had been a top-level arbitrator in the men's clothing and steel industries and a consultant to both the National Security Resources Board and the U. S. Department of Labor.

Harbison, a top-level adviser to government agencies during World War II, had made a name for himself far beyond the confines of Princeton at the time of his graduation with the Class of 1934. A Phi Beta Kappa student, who combined studies with varsity track and an office in the Triangle Club, he had written a senior thesis on a homestead development in Allegheny County, Pa. This was used by the city of Pittsburgh in a plea for a $200,000 Federal apppropriation. When the matter came before the appropriate Congressioal Committee, the 22-year old senior took the stand and gave a convincing, hour-long extemporaneous address.

For warning educators everywhere that "of all economic resources high-talent manpower takes the longest time to develop;" for seeing that suddenly developed "booster programs" are of little value in tooling education to any nation's long-range needs; for his pioneering efforts in areas that have been largely neglected; he is Town Topics' nominee for FLUORIDATION AT LAST? Under Study Again. After a decade of intermittent discussion but no final action, the possibility of fluoridating Princeton's water supply as a means of reducing tooth decay in children is once again being studied by the Borough Board of Health. The board has officially reaffirmed its previous endorsement of fluoridation and Dr. E. Frederick Laschever, chairman, has reported that a board committee is now studying methods by which fluoridation can at last become a reality in Princeton.

The principle of fluoridation has been approved in the past by both the Borough and Township Boards of Health, as well as by other community organizations, such as the Council of Community Services and the PTAs. Yet Princeton is still without fluoridation, while hundreds of other towns and cities in the United States are enjoying its benefits.

Fluoridation has been a subject of public interest since 1938, when two dental research workers, Dr. H. Trendley Dean and Dr. Frederick S. McKay, discovered that people living in communities where fluoride was present in the water had less tooth decay than those in communities where fluoride was not present. Subsequent medical investigations showed that while a large concentration of fluoride in the water resulted in mottling of the teeth, a relatively small concentration did not.

PROBLEM SOLVER? Dr. E. Frederick Laschever, chairman of Princeton Borough Board of Health, which is once again studying the problem of water fluoridation.

It was also discovered that this relatively small concentration, only one part fluoride to a million parts of water, reduced tooth decay in children by about 50 percent without affecting the appearance of the teeth. The effects of fluoride were found to occur when teeth are being formed, so that children are the chief beneficiaries of fluoridated water.

Effects Consistent. Since these first discoveries, fluoridation has been tried in many communities throughout the country, including Grand Rapids, Mich.; Evanston, Ill.; Lewiston, Idaho; Marshall, Tex.; Newburgh, N.Y., and Sheboygan, Wis. In several cases, control groups were set up in adjacent communities where there was no fluoride in the water. In every case, dental decay was definitely reduced in the communities with fluoridated water, whether compared with control groups or with statistics from the years prior to the time the water was fluoridated.

Once the effectiveness of fluoridation had been proved, the next step was to ascertain whether or not it was safe. Because of the many communities where fluoride was already present without being added, a comparative study was easily made. Such a study was undertaken by the U. S. Public Health Service. It compared mortality rates in 32 pairs of fluoride and non-fluoride cities and showed that water containing fluoride does not increase the incidence of such conditions as heart disease, cancer or nephritis.

These and similar studies by the Public Health Service have been supplemented by independent studies by experts associated with various national health organizations. The results have all been the same: fluoridation of water was found to be a safe, effective way of preventing tooth decay.

As a result, water fluoridation now has the approval of all these national organizations, among others: the American Medical Association, the American Dental Association, the American Public Health Association, the National Research Council, the Association of Public Health Dentists, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and the Commission on Chronic Illness.

Cost Relatively Low. The experiences of many communities in the United States which have fluoridated their water has also shown that the cost is relatively low. Once the initial equipment has been purchased, the average cost is about 10 cents per person per year. This has been computed from statistics such as those from Wisconsin, where the annual cost varies from five to 12 cents per person.

Today more than 20 million people in the United States are benefiting from fluoridated water. The larger cities which have adopted fluoridation include Baltimore, Philadelphia, Washington, St. Louis, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Milwaukee, Providence and Miami. A total of 34 New Jersey communities have adopted fluoridation to date, from Atlantic City to Perth Amboy, from Long Branch to Far Hills. In addition, there are 10 communities in Gloucester and Salem counties where the water supply contains fluoride without any being added.

Where does Princeton fit into the picture? The last time fluoridation came into the limelight here was in early 1957. Both Boards of Health passed resolutions approving it then and official recommendations that the requisite amount of fluorides be introduced into the water supply were submitted to the Princeton Water Company.

Ultimately replies were sent to the Boards of Health stating, in essence, that while the officers of the Water Company had nothing against fluoridation, they did represent a privately-owned organization and they wouldn't want to go ahead unless they were sure that this was what the people of Princeton wanted.

No Action Yet. The matter seems to have been just dropped at that point, and nothing further has been done until just recently, with the organization of the present committee of the Borough Board of Health.

Dr. Laschever, chairman of the Borough Health Board, and Dr. Archibald Sheeran, chairman of the Township Health Board, are in favor of fluoridation. The health officers of the Borough and Township, David Blake and Mrs. Marcella Farley, are in favor of it, as are New Jersey state health officials. And Walter B. Jefferson, Jr., secretary of the Princeton Water Company, said that its stand remains the same: "We have nothing against fluoridation, but we wouldn't want to do it unless people want it."

The problem of where to go from here is the one now facing the committee of the Borough Board of Health. Do the people of Princeton want to have fluoridation adopted and tooth decay reduced, as is now the case in 34 other New Jersey communities? Would a joint resolution of the Borough Council and the Township Committee adequately represent the people's views on the matter, or is it necessary to have a referendum?

The next meeting of the Borough Board of Health is scheduled for Tuesday, while the Township Board will meet February 24. Both groups, as well as the governing officials of the two communities and officials of the Princeton Water Company, will respond to public opinion. For its part, TOWN TOPICS will be glad to print letters to the editor on the subject.

Ten Long Years. Ten years is a long time. During that time, thousands of children have been born in Princeton who could have benefited from the public health measure of controlled fluoridation. How much longer will Princeton wait?

ROUND-UP

A car belonging to Mrs. Eleanor Reed of Rocky Hill has extra mileage on it today because it went on a weekend skiing trip without her knowledge or permission. . .it was mistaken for a similar car (same year and make), owned by Mrs. David Noble, 74 Spruce Street. . .both cars were in the Princeton Hospital parking lot, and both had the keys atop the sun visor. . .when a friend of Mrs. Noble's, to whom she had given permission to leave on the skiing trip, got in the wrong car, found the keys as planned above the sun visor, the fat was in the fire. . .Mrs. Reed got her car back 48 hours later and police cancelled a stolen car report.

Speaking of the Hospital, January was a bonanza month for twins. . .three sets were born there, in contrast to two during all of last year. . .among the patients "on the road to recovery" is John P. Poe, First National Bank president, who was admitted last weekend following a heart attack.

Township Police Chief James Campbell reports numerous children are actually "going to school too early". . .street crossings are manned by deputy patrolmen from 8 to 6:30 a.m., and youngsters who traverse them before that are in potential danger. . . parents are asked to arrange later departures where this is the case.

The Township announced the addition of a patrolman to its force this week with the appointment of Howard Sweeney, 406 Alexander Street, effective next Monday. . .the department will then number 16 men.

Friday, February 12, and Monday, February 22, will be bank holidays, and the Post Office will be closed on Washington's Birthday. . .Princeton's 16 undergraduate eating clubs elected all members of the sophomore class during the "bicker period" that ended last weekend, marking the 10th time in the last 11 years that "100 percent" had been achieved . . .temperature fluctuations last week went from Wednesday's low of 16 to Saturday's high of 54, with February running well above normal . . . 26 years ago this week (February 9, 1934), brought the all-time record of 14 below zero for this area.

BOROUGH TAX RATE SET

Reaches New High. Borough residents will pay a tax rate of about 6.15 this year, up some 27 points from the previous high of 5.88 of last year. Finance committee chairman Richard A. Lester announced the probable new rate as he formally introduced the municipality's budget at Tuesday's session of the Borough Council.

The local rate represents 1.75 of the total. This is up a full 10 points from last year's figure of 1.65 and tops the previous high of 1.72 which was the local rate for 1957. The remainder of the increase in the total comes from the school rate, up 12 points, and the county rate, which will probably be some five points higher this year, according to Mr. Lester.

"It is quite clear that the Borough tax rate will tend to go up in the future, although possibly not as much as this year," Mr. Lester noted. He pointed out that although this year's budget includes sizable increases in both salary and non-salary items, some large purchases such as a new sweeper for the Borough, were postponed.

Total outlay for salaries will be up over 10 percent from the 1959 figure. This includes about five percent in salary increases and five percent in costs due to added personnel.

Major increases in the non-salary items in the municipality's budget, as outlined by Mr. Lester, include garbage collection (up $5000), parks and playgrounds (up $3000 for a longer period in the summer and fencing) and renovation of the sewer plant and incinerator ($5000).

Expected Revenues. Part of these increased costs will be borne by withdrawals from the trust surplus and the capital cash surplus. In addition, Mr. Lester recommended that the proposed Prospect Avenue Extension be financed from capital cash surplus, rather than from the budget itself.

The public hearing on the budget and tax resolution has been set for the next regular meeting of the Council on March 8 in Borough Hall. The required ordinance to use some $11,700 from the trust surplus in the budget will be considered at the same time.

LET'S PLAY POST OFFICE! Four-year-olds at Miss Mason's School learn the traditions of Valentine's Day by operating their own post office. Richard Olcott, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. S. Olcott of Hopewell, buys a stamp from postmistress Susan Chauncey, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Chauncey, Rosedale Road, while Elizabeth Penick posts a Valentine to her love. Elizabeth is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. B. Penick, III, 377 Franklin Avenue. (Staff Photo)

A public hearing on an ordinance to establish new salary scales for Borough employees will also be held at the March 8 meeting. This ordinance, introduced by Mr. Lester along with the budget, establishes new higher minimum salaries for all grades but leaves the maximum salaries unchanged. "We have attempted to bring up the minimums from where they have rested for a dozen years to a more realistic range," Mr. Lester explained.

Rounding off a full slate of hearings at the March 8 session will be two ordinances on parking and traffic. The first is simply a codification of existing parking regulations, while the second is a revised version of an ordinance introduced earlier. The Council will also hear opinions from the public as to whether it should ask the Director of Motor Vehicles to eliminate the U-turn presently allowed on Nassau Street.

Washington Road Discussed. In light of the most recent University student traffic fatality, the Council discussed both short and long range solutions to the dangerous situation on Washington Road as it passes through the Princeton campus. It was estimated that some 15,000 undergraduates cross the road between Nassau Street and Lake Carnegie each day.

Councilman Dan D. Coyle reported that the county is considering a loop system which would create roads on the far side of Lake Carnegie from Washington Road to both ends of Princeton. He met with the entire Board of Freeholders, representatives of West Windsor and Princeton Townships and the county engineer last Friday to consider the problem and expects a report from the county within six weeks.

Although he stressed the rerouting of traffic as a solution, Mr. Coyle also said that shorter range solutions such as lowering the speed limit, a blinker light at Washington Road and Prospect Avenue, lighting both sides of Washington Road, school zones and added policing will be considered. Councilman Lester suggested limiting the crossings to a few specific spots.

"The student problem is going to be about as bad whether we have a loop or not," Mr. Lester stressed. Noting that it would be a "terrific" problem to enforce limited crossing areas, Councilman William Walker suggested the only real solution would have to come through the students themselves.

Liquor Licenses Debated. After hearing testimony from representatives of two of Princeton's restaurants, the Council tabled its ordinance to reduce the number of liquor consumption licenses in the Borough to 11. The question arose after the Princeton Inn's license, previously registered in both the Borough and Township, was shifted to the Township alone.

In proposing that the motion be tabled, Mr. Coyle observed that he had not been approached by any residents in support of the measure nor did any people appear at the hearing to speak for the ordinance. Only after the hearing was officially closed did Mayor Raymond F. Male receive a letter from the Rev. David Crawford of the Second Presbyterian Church supporting the ordinance.

OPEN LETTERS TO GREAT LOVERS:

Quite frankly, men, the woman in your life is expecting something. You know how the fair sex is on St. Valentine's Day.

Now, I think I can get you off the hook quite handsomely. In my shop, you see, I handle both hearts of candy, and flowers, so you shouldn't have any trouble getting something quite devastating for "sweetiepie".

Understand now, with candy you'll probably get a chance to eat some yourself, so it shouldn't be a total loss. And with flowers, you'll get a chance to smell them, and I think we should all enjoy flowers while we can still smell them, don't you?

Saturday is the day to get down here, and quite happily our weekend special this week is one dozen daffodils for $1.00. How lucky can you get?

If you are one of those armchair shoppers, just phone us from where you are sitting. We'll deliver and bill you later. Now you can't beat that, can you?

Oh—you say you're just sending her a card? Spoilsport!

Both Thomas Cook, representing the Lamplighter restaurant, and William Miller, speaking for Renwicks, suggested that the license left vacant by the change of the Princeton Inn's status should go to a restaurant which could benefit by serving drinks with meals. They argued that this would not increase the number of bars in the Borough, presumably the Council's aim in introducing the ordinance.

Extra Meeting Set. In order to hold a public hearing on increased property assessments on Hamilton Avenue, the Council set an extra meeting for March 22. The added assessments arise from the new sidewalk on Hamilton Avenue.

Also to be considered in public hearings at the March 22 session are ordinances to raise the fees for taxi and delivery vehicles and for both liquor consumption and distribution licenses. The proposed increases are: from $25 to $40 for taxis, from $10 to $15 for delivery vehicles, from $400 to $480 for liquor consumption and from $300 to $360 for liquor distribution.

In other action, the Council accepted the resignation of Carl C. Shafer from the Housing Authority and set aside April 4-10 as Safe Driving Week at the request of the Princeton High School student council.

TOWNSHIP RATE $2.30

Ten-Cent Increase Planned. In Princeton Township Monday night taxpayers learned that their taxes will go up ten cents for each $100 of assessed valuation: from $2.20 to $2.30. This represents an increase of about 4½ per cent.

It is the equivalent of a 30 cent increase under a system of assessment at one-third of true value. The Township assesses at 100 per cent.

The municipal purposes budget provides for appropriations of $805,746 compared with $697,294 in 1959, for an increase of $118,452. The amount to be raised from property taxes will increase only $63,327 (from $335,191 to $398,518) because of higher anticipated revenues from sources in addition to property taxes.

The rate for Township municipal purposes will rise from $.412 to $.453 and the rate for Township school purposes will increase from $1.223 to $1.275.

Township Committeemen pointed out on Monday night that the increased expenditures come from the urgent needs of a rapidly-growing community. Augmented recreational programs and the equipping of the Shopping Center Park account for $8,800; salary increases for existing personnel (including pensions and social security payments) come to $33,876 and money allotted for the hiring of new personnel is $19,270.

There is an increase of 35 per cent in payments to the Borough for sharing library services; but a decrease in Township share of sewer operation, fire protection and civil defense. The new budget provides appropriations to pay for a joint study of consolidation, for a committee to encourage new non-residential ratables and for new equipment.

Public Hearing March 9. In presenting the budget, Township Committeemen said, "It may give the citizen of the Township some comfort to know that many residential municipalities in New Jersey (Westfield, Milburn, Ridgewood and Haddonfield) have higher taxes on comparable properties than Princeton Township. In short, mounting costs of education and government are not unique to Princeton Township."

The public hearing on the 1960 budget will be held on Wednesday, March 9, at 8:30 p. m.

"I think I'll go out

The bright sun is warm
And the ground has become Very dry!"

They found him at last

(By his club
Sticking up thru the snow.)
And he gasped from the sled
As they snowshoed him home,
"But where did that Spring Weather go?"

—Mabel E. Niblic

Although occasionally moist, February weather has been sorely tempting to golfers of late, what with several days approaching 60. A cooler trend is due, the Man said, after the mid-week balminess, but still no return to real winter weather in sight. February golfers take warning, however: it can happen here.

Also on Monday night, Township Committee appointed an assistant attorney, Harvey S. Moore, who will take over legal duties in connection with zoning board, board of health and Township court. The salary of the new post is $1800 yearly.

Committee also voted, perforce, to refund to the Institute for Advanced Study $4,081.48 in taxes for 1957, 1958 and 1959. The State Board of Tax Appeal had upheld the Institute in its claim that the home of the director should be tax-free.

Bamberger's has asked Township Committee to pass an ordinance forbidding smoking in department stores . . . Committee, at a special meeting held Thursday night, referred to the Board of Improvement Assessors the sewer problems of Jean Labatut on Snowden Lane . . . Mr. Labatut said it would cost him $3000 to connect with the Snowden Lane sewer, and considerably less to connect with the trunk line at the rear of his property . . . Valley Road sidewalks will be repaired to "first class condition," according to Township engineer Calvin Schofield, and the municipality is "on the way" to getting the $500 from the bonding company.

TAXES UP

In Lawrence Township. The tax rate for residents of Lawrence Township will increase from $6.90 to $7.10. The tax for local purposes, which has been affected by increased rateables, will increase only two cents: from $1.24 to $1.26.

The school tax rate for the Township will rise from $3.95 to $4.04 and Lawrence's share of the county tax will go from $1.66 to $1.75. The new budget shows an increase of $33,460.29 in local taxes for municipal purposes.

News Of The THEATRES

IT ENDED TOO SOON

Grenfell Show Sparkling. It is hard to believe that one woman in a solo performance of monologues and songs can create a program so entertaining that one hates to see it end, yet that is just what Joyce Grenfell accomplished Saturday. A responsive audience virtually filled McCarter Theatre for this second in the current Celebrity Series and the prolonged, enthusiastic applause as the final curtain fell was evidence of the general feeling of reluctance that the two sparkling hours Miss Grenfell provided had come to a close.

The audience's response was as much a tribute to Miss Grenfell's personality as it was to her choice of material. She is much more attractive on stage than on television, and her warmth and sincerity brought an immediate rapport. The general reaction is perhaps best summed up by the involuntary remark of one woman in the audience: "But she's so charming!"

In additon to charm, Miss Grenfell obviously has much intelligence, and the variety of her material was proof of this. While the humorous pieces for which she is best knowo formed the bulk of the program, they were wisely interspersed with several monologues in a more serious vein. All the material, both serious and humorous, evidenced her uncanny knack for penetrating behind the facade that everyone wears in daily living.

The program ranged from a "Song Not To Listen To," which she explained that she sang first because everybody was so busy settling down that nobody listened anyway, to a wry sketch of a vain and superficial woman about to have her portrait painted, and a brief, touchiog picture of quite another type of woman trying to put on a brave front while saying farewell to her children. Apparently Miss Grenfell had been told in advance that a Princeton audience was a good one, for she chose to try out several new items in her repertoire, and all were successful.

McCARTER PERFORMER: Bruno Gerussi has a leading role in "Mary Stuart," here for three weekend performances.

Hit of Evening. The hit of the evening, however, was her familiar parody of the teacher in the nursery school. The picture of the teacher vainly struggling to show a visitor how the school program was helping to develop "their little personalities," while the children persistently refused to cooperate, obviously hit home with the Princeton audience.

Such is Miss Grenfell's talent that she managed to create in this piece a whole group of children with clearly-defined personalities. Most enchanting of the imaginary youngsters were Sidney, who insisted on hiding under a table and firing a make-believe machine gun at the other children, and another little boy who happily discovered in his pocket a two-day-old piece of toast and jelly.

Other popular numbers with the Princeton audience were the "Mediocre Waltz," a satire on conformity which elicited many hearty guffaws, and a devastating sketch of a Southern radio announcer whose voice dripped honey but who never managed to get past the commercials and on to the business of introducing a guest. The skill with which Miss Grenfell dropped her English accent and adopted a Southern one was fascinating.

Adding to the pleasure of the evening were the finished piano playing of her accompanist, George Bauer, and a truly striking collection of evening gowns worn by Miss Grenfell. She managed four changes, from a raspberry satin through pink and ice blue to a dramatic lime green taffeta for the finale.

Each gown was a masterpiece of simple design and clever drapery, giving the ladies in the audience the added bonus of a fashion show. As she appeared in the last gown, Miss Grenfell said deprecatingly, "It makes for a change." There's no need for her to make changes, however—she's grand just as she is.

three performances of Schiller's "Mary Stuart," which will play in McCarter Theater this Friday and Saturday with performances at 8:30 p.m. and at 2:30 p.m. Saturday. Tickets are on sale at the University Store and will be available at the box office.

The sponsors of "Mary Stuart," Dane Attractions, Inc., will present on March 10 Italy's Piccolo Teatro di Milano, a company of 20 actors and musicians who will come to Princeton directly from their American premiere engagement at the New York City Center.

The Piccolo, the first Italian acting company to appear in this country in 35 years, will present Goldoni's 18th - century classic, "The Servant of Two Masters," performed in the style of the "commedia dell'Arte. These artists are said to express themselves so well with pantomime, gestures and acrobatics that it is not necessary to understand the Italian lines they speak.

TOM GLAZER TO SING

At Children's Show. A program of folksongs and ballads by Tom Glazer will be presented Tuesday afternoon in McCarter Theatre as the second in a series of entertainments sponsored by the Children's Entertainment Committee of the Princeton Borough PTA.

Mr. Glazer is known for his records for children, which have received the National Critics' and Parents Magazine awards and have been praised by the New York Times as "The best in children's records." A frequent soloist on the Philadelphia Orchestra Children's Concerts, Mr. Glazer is also known to adult audiences through his recordings and his concert, radio and television appearances.

Tickets, at $1.50, 95 cents and 50 cents, may be obtained by writing Children's Entertainments, 175 Hamilton Avenue, or by calling Mrs. R. H. Parmenter, ticket chairman, at WA 4-0617 between 9:30 and 11:30 A.M. All balcony seats in the center sections have been sold by subscription but there are still good seats available in other parts of the house. Tickets will also be sold at the McCarter Theatre box office beginning at 1 p.m. on the day of the performance.

PIRANDELLO TO OPEN

Intime's Winter Season. "Six Characters in Search of an Author" will open Thursday, February 25 in Murray Theatre, as Theatre Intime's first winter offering. The play, which will run through March 5, will be directed by Dale Bell and will starr Michel Guilloton and Lee Graham.

The work by Luigi Priandello details the travails of six characters, who have been created for particular roles and are abandoned by their author. In the play, they seek a new playwright and stage for fulfillment. Tickets, which will include special group rates, will be on sale at the University Store.

IT'S SAVOY TIME AGAIN

"Pinafore" to Be Given. Gilbert and Sullivan's "H.M.S. Pinafore" will be given by The Savoyards of Princeton as their spring production. It will be performed in McCarter Theater on April 27 and 28 and May 7.

Last year's directors, Monroe Wade and Mel Olson, will direct again this year and members of the Princeton community who would like to join the production may try out for chorus parts this Thursday and Friday.

Tryout will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in Alexander Hall. Orchestra tryouts will be held from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. next Wednesday and Thursday; in McCarter Theatre on Wednesday and in Alexander Hall on Thursday. Persons who are interested in aspects of the production other than performance may call WA 1-7783 or WA 4-2931.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Story on Page One (February 11-16) is another courtroom drama, but one which is given added interest because of the similarity of its plot to the current Finch-Tregoff headline case. Clifford Odets, the writer-director, has contributed a good deal of swiftly moving dialogue, although his screenplay is rather lacking in depth. The stars are Rita Hayworth, Anthony Franciosa, Gig Young and Mildred Dunnock.

The bulk of the film takes place in court, where Miss Hayworth is accused of conspiring with her lover, Young, to murder her drunken husband, Alfred Ryder. Franciosa is the bright young attorney who defends her. The flashback revelations of the sordid life Miss Hayworth led with her husband and the escape she sought through a more human relationship with Young are interesting, although there seems to be too much of an effort to separate the good guys from the bad guys.

On the Beach (February 17-23) is a significant picture dealing with one of our important race problems—the survival of the human race. Gregory Peck, Ava Gardner, Fred Astaire and even ol' shuffle-gaited, scalp-scratching Anthony Perkins behave more like human beings than movie stars, and Stanley Kramer's production is professional and gripping, far more so than the journalistic novel from which it is adapted.

The story takes place in 1964, when the world, with the exception of Melbourne, Australia, has been divested of human life by the explosion of a number of nuclear bombs. Peck is the skipper of an American submarine whose crew survived because they were submerged at the time of the catastrophe. Soon after the sub docks at Melbourne it becomes known that all those still living are doomed by radioactive fallout. The human relationships which develop among the principals in this situation are put forth powerfully and thoughtfully, and Kramer's direction is magnificent. There are occasional lapses in Perkins' Australian accent and there are some scenes—notably the one in which Astaire, as a bitter scientist, philosophizes in pacifist cliches which are unnecessary and weaken the film's similar but more artfully presented message—but in its total effect this is among Hollywood's most serious and intelligent works. Recommended.

IT'S NEW To Us

CHANGE OF SCENERY

Paper Your Wall. Scenic wallpaper is the non-repeating kind in which several panels or rolls of paper are matched side by side until a complete picture is formed.

It's very effective on the right wall, which doesn't necessarily mean a big wall, and Decorative Interiors has a splendid new collection to show you just how effective scenics can be. You can find them at 245 Nassau Street.

Most of the designs come in many colors. In one collection, all the pictures are fine pen-and-ink drawings against backgrounds of various quiet colors like powder blue, aqua, pale coral and so on.

One of these arranges Norman chateaux in a pleasing manner. Another shows the village green of a quiet, elm-lined New England town. There's "Caribbean Holiday" with palms and fishermen, a Southern plantation with touches of gold in its lace-work fence, a Shoji screen with birds and flowers softening its strong vertical and horizontal lines.

Perhaps the most arresting of all the scenics is a "trompe o'oeil" which makes you think you're looking at a wall hung with pictures. The "pictures," of course, are part of the wallpaper, just as though they were cabbage roses.

Some of these scenics can be done on a small scale by cropping one or two of the panels. If you choose one in which a maple bough goes sweeping across the entire wall, you're stuck. But you can take one end panel from each side of the New England street scene without spoiling it particularly.

For decorators who prefer an all-over effect, Decorative Interiors has "Asian Collection," a connoisseur's grouping of wallpapers adapted from old designs or actually taken verbatim from ancient sources.

One, for example, is an adaptation of a 16th century Chinese damask. Another is an authentic design from the ruins at Angkor Vat. There's an adaptation of a 13th century Persian print of birds and animals and another 13th century print with Byzantine designs.

These papers have the faint, stencilled look of a rubbing which a gifted amateur might take from an old inscription. They are not cheap, but they are so impressive that they could be used sparingly with great effect.

Note For April 15

Among the handsome new wallpapers at Decorative Interiors, 245 Nassau, is a collection called "Colonial Prints." (Some of the prints are quite definitely Federalist in inspiration, but let's not quibble.)

This group includes a wide variety of floral and documentary papers, each with its own matching fabric for slip-cover or drape. The one we like best is a Stamp Act print with big stamps (about six inches long) placed at random on the background. In good, sturdy Colonial type, black and bold, is the legend "No taxation without representation!"

We suggest this for daddy's den. He can sit in his den, drink in hand, on April 14 and moodily ponder the wallpaper while he does his homework.

No Collar, Thanks. New knit suits which have just been unpacked at Red Barn Casuals are uniformly collarless. Drive up Route 206 Belle Mead way, and look over this spring collection.

Italy sends along a royal blue wool knit so fine that, except for its substantial feel, you might take it for cotton jersey. The skirt is fully lined and banded with a one - inch elastic for fit. The straight overblouse is sleeveless with a round neck and two white stripes around the bottom. There is a V-neck cardigan with blue and white bands in narrow layers down the front and three-quarter sleeves with white bands.

A similar knit suit, in Arnel this time, comes in sage green or sand ($35). It has a straight skirt with self belt, a sleeveless, collarless blouse woven in half - inch checks of dark and light green (or sand). The jacket is a cardigan with three-quarter sleeves and a self band down the front.

Germany contributes another knit. It has a straight skirt or narrow slacks worn with a collarless cardigan which is framed by a wide band down the front and around the curved bottom. Black or grey.

A fine white wool knot golf shirt has seven-eighths French cuffed sleeves which show below the three-quarter sleeves of the jacket and try that on whoever does the fractions in your family! There are flat gold buttons down the apple green front of the cardigan. Kimberley's checked wool knit (navy or fawn and white) does have a collar: it's lined with the predominant solid color of the two-piece suit.

For less tailored customers, Red Barn has a pale sand knit

THE GARDEN

The Bridal Path (February 10-13) is a mild warmhearted comedy featuring Bill Travers, who was last seen as "Wee Geordie." Filmed in Scotland with indigenous actors, the picture is pleasant enough, although it lapses into travelogue in its emphasis on the Scottish landscape, which is charming at first but is dealt with at too great length, and on various native songs and chorales.

The story involves Travers' efforts to find a wife. He is sent to the mainland for this purpose by the elders of the remote island of Beigg. His happy-go-lucky personality, combined with his irreverent attitude toward money, leads to a wild and near-violent series of adventures with the more sophisticated mainland belles. Finally, after a flight from the police precipitated by the widespread feeling that his unbelievable innocence must mask some moral shortcoming, he finds the girl he really wants is none other than his old home-town flame.

Some amusing footage was shot at the Argylshire Gathering, a sort of Scottish state fair. The principals are all attractive and ingratiating and some of the Technicolor photography is really beautiful.

Love in the Afternoon (February 15) is a frothy, happy comedy which is highly recommended by a teen-aged female of our acquaintance, who saw it 12 times when it was first released in 1957. Honestly.

The stars are Gary Cooper, Audrey Hepburn and Maurice Chevalier, and the combination is propitious. Chevalier is a puckish private eye whose specialty is reporting to wives on the extracurricular activities of their spouses in Paris, and Cooper is a wealthy Texan whose Continental capers have enriched Chevalier's coffers on several occasions. The details of Gary's indiscretions (he always says "Yup" to a pretty girl) are filed in a dossier which is perused by Chevalier's impressionable daughter (Miss Hepburn), who promptly falls in love with her image of the dashing American. Things come to a head when Miss Hepburn, trysting innocently in Cooper's hotel room, is discovered by John McGiver, who has been told by Chevalier that he would find his wife in the room.

On the Bo: y (February 16) comes to Princeton so highly recommended that it is difficult for a reviewer to entertain serious reservations about it without feeling somewhat churlish. Filmed in 1956, the picture was a major landmark in experimental American realism and won deservedly high honors at the Venice and Edinburgh festivals. Producer-director Lionel Rogosin, who will speak after the Garden shows at 4, 7 and 9 p.m., has, with cameraman Richard Bagley, done a searing and perceptive documentary of the real and varied human tragedy of New York's Skid Row.

Still, the film is hampered by the perennial paradox of cinema realism: real people generally are less convincing on the screen than trained actors. It is central to the film's impact that all parts are taken by the persons who are portrayed (not even the names are changed), but the result is that the power of the personal story being told is reduced by the frequent woodenness of the acting. Ray Salyer, the ruggedly handsome railroad worker whose fight with the bottle is the film's chief subject, is brilliantly alive in the purely visual scenes but has the aspect of a guilty schoolchild reciting Tennyson when he speaks.

It must be noted, however, that Salyer's personal history is significant only as a microcosm of the sadness and human drama of the whole Bowery, and despite the objections recorded above the film succeeds thoroughly in portraying these values. Mr. Rogosin has probed deeply and honestly and the image of the Bowery he presents is neither pretty nor hopeful, but the viewer emerges with an unshakeable sense of having known the situation involved. There can be no doubt that this is a true account of the way things are on the Bowery. The fact that the film is, at bottom, convincing outweighs the dialogue lapses and such probably unavoidable technical flaws as the sometimes-indistinct soundtrack. Recommended.

Broth of a Boy (February 17-20) is an Irish charmer featuring Barry Fitzgerald, Tony Randall and the Abbey Players of Dublin. Fitzgerald is a delight as a 110-year-old Gaelic rogue who lands in court for assault while the town is making plans to honor him as the oldest man in the world, and Randall is capable, as usual, in the role of the sports-car-driving TV executive whose plans for promoting Fitzgerald are interrupted by his dismissal from the network for overstaying his expense-account tour of Ireland.

The Fitzgerald magic is an elusive quality, only rarely employed to best advantage in American films. "Broth of a Boy," however, with its good-natured direction and absurdly insignificant plot, is obviously tailored to his peculiar talents and the result is light, warmhearted entertainment. Recommended.

SUSPECTS: In a story reminiscent of current newspaper headlines, Gig Young and Rita Hayworth are accused of conspiring to murder Miss Hayworth's husband in "The Story on Page One." The Clifford Odets courtroom drama will be featured through Tuesday at the Playhouse.

period. Of these, nine were in the Borough and eight in the Township.

February, marked by a $31,600 blaze at the 198 Witherspoon Street garage of the Shelton Motor Co., was the worst month in the Borough. The Township's heaviest loss was a $20,000 fire that destroyed a barn and equipment on the A. W. Hobler farm, Cedar Grove Road.

In all, there were 157 fires in the two municipalities—an average of about one every three days. Fifty were classhed as "silent" alarms—relatively small blazes which require the assistance of one or more pieces of apparatus summoned by telephone rather than by siren. Ninety others—51 of them in the Township—were extinguished by police without the assistance of the fire department.

Fire inspection of 31 buildings was completed, while all schools in the community were checked at six-month intervals. Mr. Coan recommended in his report that an office be provided at Borough Hall for the chief and other department officials as an aid to maintaining records and to facilitate contact with the public.

He also asked that the 150 members of the department be allocated an annual sum to compensate for loss of clothing and personal belongings while fighting fires. The sugested scale: chief, $150; first assistant cheif, $100; second assistant, $50; each member, $36.

"FLOPSEY" IS BACK

Silent on Activities. After an absence of two months, "Flopsey," a big, tame white rabbit, is back with his young owner on Patton Avenue. The object of sympathetic search by many residents of Princeton who saw the TOWN TOPICS classified ad announcing his disappearance, Flopsey was found last week by Edwin C. Hutter, Herrontown Road, on Snowden Lane near Wheatsheaf.

Mr. Hutter saw the big rabbit, suspected that he might be Flopsey, and telephoned TOWN TOPICS to find out who the owner was. The rabbit was returned that day to young Christopher Clifford, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Clifford, 132 Patton Avenue. Flopsey has never told the Cliffords how he got across Nassau Street. He is now safe in an escape-proof cage.

The rabbit first came to the attention of Princetonians when he disappeared the first time, last fall. He was returned to Christopher the same day the "lost" ad appeared. He escaped again when the latch on his cage was fastened more with haste than with care and he was able to nudge the door open with his nose. It was this last expedition, begun in December, that kept Flopsey away from home for two months.

HE'S BACK! Flopsey, the "missing and mourned" rabbit whose master, young Kit Clifford, 5, advertised his loss in Town Topics, was found last week. Thinner and, possibly, wiser, Flopsey lived off the land for two months and successfully avoided stray dogs, Nassau Street trucks and people who were looking for him.

After Mrs. Clifford placed her "missing and mourned" classified ad, she was beseiged by people who had seen a large rabbit with brown ears, white ears or pink ears (Flopsey's are black); wanted to sell the Cliffords a rabbit; wanted to give the Cliffords several rabbits, had once lost a rabbit just like Flopsey.

Mrs. Clifford feels that this story illustrates two things: people spend a lot of time reading TOWN TOPICS classified ads; there are many large white rabbits loose in Princeton.

CHILD DROWNS IN POOL

Falls Through Ice. Jonathan Keller, 3, was drowned Thursday afternoon when he fell through the ice on a swimming pool in the rear of his home. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Keller, Ridgeview Road.

As a result of the tragedy, Township Committeeman William Marvel has asked that Committee re-consider the possibility of a Township ordinance requiring that swimming pools be fenced-in. The Borough already has such an ordinance.

Mrs. Keller called Township police at 3:15 p.m. when she missed Jonathan. Three police cars rushed to the house and officers went immediately to the pool where they found a hole in the ice. The boy's body was not visible, but it was discovered when Jug-Handle on 206?

A possible solution to the 206-Mountain Avenue-Bayard Lane problem was announced this week. Calvin Schofield, Township engineer, has been conferring with the State Highway Department and the result is a plan which would divert traffic by means of a jug-handle.

According to the proposal, a jug-handle would be constructed on the south side of Route 206 where the Townsaip now dumps rocks. Mountain Avenue would be extended east and would then bend to join 206 opposite the jug-handle.

Motorists desiring to drive from Bayard Lane into Mountain would make a right turn into Route 206, go around the jug-handle, stop at a traffic light, cross 206 and enter Mountain Avenue. Bayard Lane, from Mount Avenue south, would be one-way, south.

policemen broke the ice with a pole.

Artificial respiration was applied as an ambulance took the boy to Princeton Hospital but he was pronounced dead on arrival. According to police, the ice on part of the pool which was in the shade, was three inches thick; however, the spot where the boy fell through was in the sunlight and had melted so much that it would not support his weight.

Funeral services for Jonathan will be held in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and burial will be there. In addition to his parents, he is survived by a brother and by his grandparents, Mrs. Erwin Keller of Princeton and John E. Shirk of Richfield, Pennsylvania.

The body was recovered by Sergeant Lester Anderson, Detectives Fred Porter and John Petrone and Patrolmen Anthony Diaforli and Michael Lisi.

ACCIDENT VICTIM DIES

After Week on Critical List. Frank M. Evans, 21-year old junior at Princeton University, died in Princeton Hospital Sunday afternoon. He had been in critical condition with severe head injuries since he had been struck by a car on Washington Road on January 30.

The son of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Thomas B. Evans of Arlington, Va., Mr. Evans was riding a bicycle and police believe he tried to cut in front of a car when he was hit and thrown to the pavement. The driver of the car was John Golden, 233 Washington Road, Penns Neck.

Lieutenant Peter J. McCrohan of Borough Police reported that all facts in the case will be presented to the Mercer County Grand Jury for consideration. Mr. Golden is not being detained by the police.

Mr. Evans was the third undergraduate to die following an accident on Washington Road between Prospect Avenue and College Road in the last four years. A junior, Hugh M. Dodd, was struck while crossing the street last November 21, and another cyclist was hit and killed four years ago.

Leaflets Distributed. In an effort to center public attention on the need for making Washington Road safer, members of Terrace Club, to which Mr. Evans belonged, stopped traffic Monday evening with a leaflet-campaign.

Drivers were handed a mimeographed sheet headed "Sorry to slow you up, but . . .". Stressing the need for cooperation on the part of driver and pedestrian alike, the message declared, "We are sure cooperation on your part, combined with our increased caution, will go a long way toward preventing our having another empty chair at dinner-time."

EIGHT LOSE LICENSES

Revoked by State. The Department of Motor Vehicles has announced revocations of the drivers' licenses of eight residents of the Princeton area:

Under the "point system," for multiple violations: Edgar Riddick, 20, 121 Birch Avenue, four months; W. Bryce Thompson 4th, 28, 195 Nassau Street, three months; William H. Jackson, 59, 111 Mercer Street; Michael Dorio, 44, Route 69, Hopewell; and marked his 25th birthday party by playing "Russian Roulette" with a group of friends in his Prospect Avenue apartment, lost his life when the pistol hammer triggered the lone cartridge in the six-chamber weapon. . .five candidates sought three places on the Township school board: James Cawley, Henry Chauncey, Ralph Hagen, William Karch and Clarence Rodefeld; in the Borough, four ran for three vacancies: Mrs. Elizabeth Butterfield, Littleton Groom, Mrs. Janet Jepsen and Bryan Moore.

Entertainment news included a hilling for sultry songstress Libby Holman at McCarter Theatre under Princeton Group Arts auspices; the 1919 award winning film, "All the Kings Men" with Broderick Crawford at the Playhouse; and the first revival of the oft-revived 1939 hit, "The Wizard of Oz" at the Garden. . .new business ventures included "The Hydrant," a pet shop at 6 Chambers Street with Bishop White as its proprietor, and Kline & Gregory, Kaiser-Frazer dealers, at 368 Nassau Street.

Unbeaten as a member of the Princeton wrestling team was Dave McAlpin (now assistant pastor of the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church), while Don Mathey of Cedar Grove Road was a member of a high-scoring "kid line" on the Princeton hockey team. . . the high honor roll at Princeton High School for February, 1950, included Frederick Almgren, Marion Bacon, James Grandberry, Sarah Christian, Sonia Kubon, Dorothy Payne and Earl Tindall . . .and the Man of the Week was Chester R. Stroup, "34-year old principal of the Nassau Street School, whose insistence upon a 'positive approach' in matters educational has stamped him as one of the leaders in his field."

ELECTION RESULTS

School Budgets Pass. Budgets for school districts in Princeton Borough, Princeton and Lawrence Townships were approved by voters in the annual elections Tuesday night.

In the Borough, where the budget was approved by a margin of almost 10-1, 282 votes were cast. Mrs. Edna McCrohan topped the ticket with 277, Dr. Jeremiah S. Finch received 264 and Dr. Elmer G. Homrighausen, 261. Mrs. Bernice Miller was named to a one-year term with 235 votes.

Princeton Township voters cast 198 ballots, approving the budget by about 6 to 1. Named to the board were Lawrence Thompson with 187 votes and Geroge M. Grace and Mrs. Marian Epstein, the latter the only incumbent seeking re-election, with 181 each.

Lawrence Township voters approved the budget by better than 3 to 1 as some 750 voters went to the polls. Victorious candidates in a contested race were Robert B. Immordino, 547; James H. Smith Jr., 524; and Warren W. Eason, 454, all for three-year terms. A one-year term went to Lawrence L. Hlavacek, 536.

AT INTERNATIONAL DINNER: Mrs. Robert B. Meyner, who described her 1959 visit to Russia, and Mrs. Edna G. Mulvey (right), president of the Soroptimist Club, which co-sponsored an International Dinner Monday night with Business and Professional Women's Club at Nassau Inn.

OIL BURNER EXPLODES

Starts Fire at 156 Alexander. An oil burner in the basement of the house at 156 Alexander Street exploded early Monday morning, routing the two occupants, Mr. and Mrs. George Holenkoff.

Fire damaged the basement, while the first floor suffered from water and smoke. A general alarm for the Princeton Fire Department was sounded at 3:16 a.m.

TWO FINED

For Traffic Violations. Clark Cameron, 37, 15 Park Place, was fined $55 by Magistrate Theodore T. Tams in Borough Court Monday and had his license revoked 90 days for reckless driving. He was fined $10 for operating a car without a license in his possession.

Donald Randolph, 26, 21 Birch Avenue, was fined $30 and has his license revoked for 30 days for leaving the scene of an accident. Both men pleaded guilty.

BUS DRIVER SOUGHT

For Throwing Lye. Police of Hamilton Township are hunting for Bruce Steinmetz, 30, 285 John Street, who is charged with throwing lye on a woman and inflicting severe burns on her. The charge is atrocious assault and battery.

Miss Joyce Garrasi, 26, of Hamilton Township, is in Mercer Hospital for treatment of her burns. She told police that Steinmetz, who was in her apartment, threw whiskey on her when an argument developed, struck her with a bottle and then threw drain-clearing solution over her.

Steinmetz was arrested in 1956 on a disorderly conduct charge and in 1958 on a charge of assault and battery. Both complaints were dismissed.

ARTS FESTIVAL SUCCESS

Scholarships Gain $1750. The Festival of the Arts, held at Miss Fine's School last October, netted $4750 for the school's scholarship fund. Mrs. Augustus K. Mills, chairman of the event, announced this figure last week in her report to the Parents Association. Mrs. Mills added that attendance at the 1959 festival was more than twice that of 1958.

"We were particularly pleased with the reception of the new areas we entered, namely ceramics, graphic arts and a greatly enlarged field of sculpture," she said "and with the good attendance, particularly on Monday and Tuesday evenings."

Mrs. Richard W. Baker, Jr., chairman of the Outgrown Shop, announced additional shop hours from 10 to noon Saturdays. Mrs. Alfred Stengel Jr., the group's secretary, and Mrs. Frank Gorman Jr., treasurer, gave their reports. Mrs. James Sayen, chairman of the Parents Association, presided.

MASON ELECTED PRESIDENT

Of Chamber of Commerce. The board of directors of Princeton's new Chamber of Commerce has named Ralph Mason, senior member of the law firm of Mason, Griffin, Moore & Cook, as its first president. In addition to many other civic positions, Mr. Mason is a past president of the United Community Fund.

Other officers named were J.P. Meyer, first vice-president; Loar Quickle, second vice-president, and George Adriance, third vice-president. Mr. Meyer is general manager of Bamberger's department store in the shopping center. Mr. Quickle and Mr. Adriance are associated with the Princeton University Store and the Princeton Bank and Trust Company, respectively.

Paul Smith of the First National Bank is treasurer of the new organization, with R. L. Lenhart of Lenhart and Company serving as executive secretary. The Chamber's headquarters will be in Mr. Lenhart's office at 14 Witherspoon Street.

The directors will meet this Friday at 6 a.m. in the Nassau Inn, at which time Mr. Mason will name committee chairmen to supplement the work of the vice-presidents. Among the committees to be set up are the Downtown Merchants Bureau, the Real Estate Bureau, the Princeton Area Merchants Bureau, the Science and Research Committee, the Publicity Committee, the Community Planning Committee, the Educational Committee, the Tourist Information Bureau and the Housing Committee.

ERROR CORRECTED

By First Aid Unit. The First Aid Unit and Rescue Squad has made public a letter from The Newark News, correcting an impression that e subscription drive conducted by the paper, from which partial proceeds went to the Unit's Ladies Auxiliary, replaced its annual fund-raising campaign.

The letter comments that "One of the solicitors mistakenly and inadvertently said that this drive was taking the place of the annual drive of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad. We regret exceedingly that such a mistaken impression was created."

EAGLE AWARDS GIVEN

To Keizer and Parmet. Two boys were awarded the highest rank in Scouting as Princeton Boy Scout Troop 88, sponsored by the Princeton Methodist Church, celebrated the 50th Anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America in their annual banquet.

Allen Keizer and Phillip A. Parmet were given the Eagle award at the dinner. Other boys who advanced in rank last year included Robert Anderson, John Homrighausen, Bill Hinkson, Raymond Lemore, Larry Sherman, Ken Turner and Douglas Watson, all second class; Bruce Beddoe, Perry Benson, Ken Guilmartin, Gary Hines, Gerald Johnson, Jeff Lowe, Mark Stange and Bill Turner, first class; Anthony Adams and Howard Spinner, star.

OLD TIMERS' NIGHT

Hook and Ladder. The active members of the Princeton Hook and Ladder Company entertained their past members with an annual Old Timers' Night last Wednesday.

Guests included: Everett Satterwaite, John Povalick, John Sutphin, Carl Rose, Arnold Pierson, Walter Foster, Bertrand Gulick, Peter Pranis, Richard Anderson, Jr. and John Chasko.

Colloquium will take place in Princeton this year, at 8 p.m. in 10 McCosh Hall starting Friday. Keynote speaker will be Rabbi Benjamin M. Kahn, National Director of Hillel.

The Colloquium is a major Hillel event which rotates among the three participating universities and is open to the public. Among the speakers will be Dr. Irving Levy of Princeton, Rabbi Benzion Gold and Dr. Maurice Zigmond of Harvard, Rabbi Richard Israel of Yale and Dr. Louis Ruchames of Smith College. Visiting Students will be present from Rutgers, Douglass, Smith, Vassar, Radcliffe, Wellesley, Sarah Lawrence and Bryn Mawr.

GOOD STUDY HABITS

To Be Discussed by Panel. A panel discussion on the topic "What are the factors that contribute to good study habits?" will be held at the first Parent Education Meeting, sponsored by the Borough Elementary Schools PTA, next Wednesday at 8 in the cafeteria of the Nassau Street School.

Panelists will be Mrs. Dorothea Lummis and Phillip H. Cobb, representing the teacher administration; Mrs. W. F. Stohlman, presenting the parents' viewpoint; and Dr. Jack Bardon, speaking for the students. Each will deliver brief talks on the school's contribution, the home's contribution and the students' problems in developing good study habits. A question and answer period will follow the speakers.

LODGE WILL MEET

Friday Night at 8. The next meeting of Thistle Lodge No. 220, Daughters of Scotia, will be held Friday at 8 in the Odd Fellows Hall, 23 Witherspoon Street.

Chief Daughter Mrs. James McDowall will preside. In charge of refreshments will be Past Chief Daughter Mrs. Charles Cook.

Naw Phone Book Here

The new Mercer County Telephone Directory, which used to arrive with the flowers in May, is making its debut three months early this year. The New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. has announced that the 1960 directory is all complete and that delivery is scheduled to begin this Friday.

There will be a total of 146,500 directories distributed this year, an increase of 8,350 over 1959. The new directory contains 100,650 alphabetical listings.

To Buy or Not to Buy

In many a community across the nation, prospective purchasers of fountain pens will try them out by writing the traditional, "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their country."

Not so in Princeton, N. J. At the ball-point pen counter in the local five and dime emporium, the following equally traditional quotation was left behind by a pen-tester:

"To be or not to be, that is the question. Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of . . . "

TROOP 43 PLANS DINNER

Wednesday at First Church. The annual troop dinner, including a Court of Honor for recognition of advancement in rank, for Troop 43, Boy Scouts of America, sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church, will be held next Wednesday at the church.

Former scouts or scouters of Troop 43 are invited to attend. The dinner will also mark the Golden Anniversary of Scouting in the United States.

"OPEN MIND" CONTINUES

Professor Goldman Moderator. The television and radio series, "Open Mind," will discuss "The State of German Democracy Today" this Sunday over NBC. Professor Eric Goldman will be the moderator for the program, which will run from 1 to 1:30 p.m.

Members of the panel will be Professor Gordon Craig of Princeton University's history department; Professor George Steiner, who conducts the Christian Gauss seminar; and Bishop Hanns Lilje, presiding bishop of the German Lutheran Church.

Take-off point for the discussion will be Professor Steiner's forthcoming article in the February 14 issue of The Reporter entitled "The Hollow Miracle," which is sharply critical of the present German situation. "Open Mind" will cover other national and international issues in future weeks.

BLUES DEVOTEES MEET

In Franklin Park. A meeting held in Franklin Park by devotees of folk music and the blues proved to be so successful that the group will gather regularly to further an understanding of this type of music.

There is still a need for amateur musicians who play this music. Those interested should call Raymond Burger, DAvis 9-2368.

ROOM FOR ALL? Problems created by a "population explosion" are not, Mrs. Audrey Cranstoun feels, "immediate" but will have to be faced 25 years from now—assuming (which she hopes not) that another war doesn't provide the "solution." Miss Elsie Bane (left) claims that the problem doesn't exist, saying that there is enough food and land in the world to take care of everyone. For other opinions on the problem of too many people in the world, see below. (Staff Photo.)

Question of the Week

Question: Several solutions have been offered for the problem of a "population explosion" which experts say is taking place now. What do you feel can be done to solve this problem of too many people in the world?

Where asked: Public Library.

Mrs. Roy S. Vogt, 35 Knoll Drive, housewife: I think the only answer to the population problem is some sort of birth control. But I also think this is something each nation must face for itself. For our government to give advice gratuitously would be arrogant and meddling. If we are approached for help by a foreign country, then maybe aid and information could be given through private agencies which are in existence throughout the United States, agencies like Planned Parenthood. But I think that the best approach to the problem of population expansion would be through the World Health Organization of the United Nations or some such similar body.

Malcolm Humphries, Vandyke Road, artist: The only answer may be in an atomic war or moving off to the moon and the planets. The scientists seem to be readying the answers. The doctors have got to invent a good contraceptive pill. They said they had something like this but nothing ever seems to come of it. And how are you going to get the people in China and India to take them regularly, anyway? The way people are having children in America, they ought to be made to get a license first before they could have any. You need a license for everything else in this country.

Miss Elsie Bane, Laurel Avenue, Kingston, waitress: I don't think there is a population problem. There is enough land in the world and plenty of food in the world to take care of its people. What I think the U.S. should do instead of sending money to backward countries, is to send food—there is plenty of it being wasted here. When people are well fed, they are healthy and they think differently. We don't need wars to kill off the population. Why not make available to the people all the unused land that is being wasted in the world?

Michio Hatanaka, 120 Prospect Avenue, research associate at Princeton University: I'm from Japan, which is considered to be one of the most populated countries in the world. Since the end of World War II, Japan has been able to control its population through legalized abortion and birth control. Whether or not these two methods would be acceptable to other countries, I don't know. It would depend on their laws, their religion, their social customs, etc. In the case of Japan, I feel, they have solved the problem. It has been estimated that one in three pregnancies in Japan ends in abortion.

Mrs. Alfred DeGrazia, 306 Nassau Street, editor: Probably the combination of a general raising of the standard of living plus some pharmacological method which is simple to take and not in conflict with any religious belief might curb the population growth. Also the better use of land. Certainly not all the land that could be is being used and the land that is could be used more productively.

Bruce Urich, Hodge Hall, and Madison Street, Mount Holly, student, Princeton Theological Seminary: I would think the answer would tend to lie along giving more aid to these overpopulated countries along Point Four lines, such as more technicians and equipment. And I believe if countries want them, we should provide them with birth control devices.

Mrs. Harold J. Schuster, 4 Hawthorne Avenue, housewife: I seriously doubt if there is a population explosion problem. The tremendous advancements in agriculture and medicine have counter-balanced one another. Medical advances have lowered the birth mortality rate but this increase in population has been offset by the great strides made in agriculture, wherein we now produce more food from the same amount of land. The more people there are the more they will be able to produce in the way of life's essentials.

Samuel Davison, 69 Moran Avenue, school crossing officer: Why don't we have another war to eliminate some of the people? That's the only thing we can do about it. I don't know what else we can do. Another war is a hard thing to say, but what else is there?

Mrs. John W. Baltantine, 32 Library Place, housewife: An intelligent use of what scientific knowledge is available in all fields—agriculture and industry as well as birth control.

John D. Gordon, 39 Wiggins Street, retired newspaperman: I don't think there is such a problem. I think it's just a question of location. It always has been. We've had the same problem in China, for example, for ages and we've always gotten along as far as population went. People are flocking into the cities and when you squeeze a few million people into a few square miles as in New York, of course it looks as if there isn't going to be room for everybody. I think this popu-

Report from THE MAYOR

Cause For Concern: The most recent tragedy on Washington Road has again forced attention upon a very real cause for concern: the pedestrian and bicycle hazards in the face of constantly rising motor vehicle traffic. The Borough's Traffic Safety Committee, under the chairmanship of Magistrate Tams, has maintained a vigorous interest in searching for appropriate methods of enforcement, engineering and education to cope with the pedestrian problems — particularly in the Nassau Street, Washington Road and University Place areas.

The committee is awaiting with interest the results of special surveys made at its request by the staff of the planning and traffic bureau of the state highway department. Our consultant, planner Dodd McHugh, has also been working on this phase of Borough responsibility. The meeting of the safety group next Wednesday should be a significant one; and Magistrate Tams plans to invite University representatives — including students — to participate in the session.

Call For Cooperation: University students have distributed mimeographed statements to motorists on Washington Road. In their appeal for "all possible caution" in the area that is "narrow, congested, and full of blind spots," the students mentioned significantly driver cooperation "combined with our increased caution".

It is a recognized fact that student crossings have heretofore been marked by considerable carelessness. It is unfortunately true that it often takes tragic loss of life to reinforce a determination to build safe habits for survival.

New Officers: In a brief business session, the Borough Planning Board elected a new chairman and vice-chairman to serve during 1960.

Martin Beck moved up to the chairmanship and was succeeded by Webster Dodge as vice-chairman. Borough engineer Arthur Brokaw was reelected secretary.

The board also accepted the invitation of the Federation of Official Planning Boards to demonstrate their special "study sessions" at a meeting on March 31. Other municipalities have expressed an interest in seeing the techniques by which our consultant planner and the board members hammer out the policy decisions that will be reflected in master plan changes. The board is presently studying the latest memorandum report of the consultant — a 38-page document on the economy of Princeton — in preparation for a special meeting next week.

On The Calendar: Last week's calendar included meetings of Borough and Township officials to review budget items for shared services, particularly library, fire and civil defense and disaster control; a Saturday morning wrap-up session of the Finance committee and the borough clerk to make the last decisions with respect to the budget for 1960; and a delightful Sunday evening dinner party sponsored by the borough and township police.

Friday Open House: The regular weekly "Tell it to the Mayor!" sessions will be held on Friday, February 12, and Friday, February 19, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings.

This is a very special week when we celebrate the birthday of Abraham Lincoln and when we offer congratulations to the Boy Scouts of America on their fiftieth anniversary.

BIRTH LIST

Hospital Has 13 Arrivals. Nine boys and four girls were born to Princeton area residents in Princeton Hospital last week. Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mangone, 341 Witherspoon Street, February 1; and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Combs, The Great Road; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Henderson, 267 Russell Road; and Mr. and Mrs. John Roemer, 46 Park Place, all on February 2.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Shurtz, 45 Pine Street, February 3; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holst, Bunker Hill Road, February 4; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Doyle, 3 Lenhy Road, Franklin Park; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burke, 32 Sturgis Road, Franklin Park, February 6; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeGroff, New Road, Monmouth Junction, February 7.

Parents of daughters include Mr. and Mrs. William Bodamer, 14 Dorann Avenue, February 1; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pittman, 153 Witherspoon Street; and Mr. and Mrs. Romeo Favreau, 531 Lake Drive, February 2; and Mr. and Mrs. John Andrews, Cranbury, February 6.

PHS PTA TO MEET

Dr. Dieterich to Speak. The Parent-Teachers Association of Princeton High School will meet Tuesday at 8:15 in the high school's social room. Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria following the meeting.

Dr. Paul B. Dieterich, a member of the research department of Educational Testing Service, will speak on "What can We Do About the Teaching of English?" An associate professor of English and an examiner in English at the University of Chicago before joining ETS, Dr. Dieterich was an examiner in English for the United States Armed Forces Institute during the war.

NEW OFFICERS PICKED

By Teen Canteen for 1960-1. The Princeton Teen Canteen has elected new officers to serve for the current year. Elected were Richard Traegler, president; George Russo, vice-president; Linda Salkin, secretary, and Lynne Marck, treasurer.

In its sixth year, the canteen, 800 members strong, meets every Saturday night during the school year in the Nassau Street School and holds several dances in the High School parking lot during the summer. It is run by a student board elected by canteen members, together with the help of an adult board, and is open to all boys and girls of high school age living in the Princeton area.

PINE BARRENS TOPIC

At College Club Meeting. Mr. Alden T. Cottrell, Chief of the Bureau of Forestry of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development, will give an illustrated talk on the "New Jersey Pine Barrens" at a meeting of the Women's College Club, Monday at 8:30 in High School Social Room.

Hostesses in charge of the meeting are Mrs. Sanford Dietrich and Mrs. Benjamin Foose, Jr. They will be assisted by Mrs. Warren H. Bliss, Mrs. Erhard Fernholtz, Mrs. K. E. Hoffmann, Mrs. Sigurd T. Peterson, Mrs. John van Raalte, and Mrs. Norman Steenrod.

PACK 88 TO HOLD PARTY

For Cubs and Fathers. A "Blue and Gold" party will be given at 7 Tuesday by the cub scouts of Pack 88 for the pack members and their fathers. The party will be held at the Methodist Church.

Six Bobcats were inducted into Den 4 of the pack last month by W. S. Niles, cubmaster. They are Thomas Sharretts, Richard Keizer, John Hartle, Bruce Alexander,

RENAULT RUNS RINGS INSIDE OTHER CARS

The turning circle of cars is measured from a point on the outside of the right front bumper.
A Renault Dauphine, for example, turns in a circle whose diameter is 32 feet. (Renault 4CVs need only 30 feet. Little bugs!) It can do tight U-turns, escape from narrow driveways, slip through traffic, run rings inside other cars.
We don't know of a car that handles easier. The engine in the rear takes the weight off the front; when parked, you turn the wheel with a finger. Natural power steering.
Your Renault Dealer will demonstrate. He may even mention other talents. Uncanny traction on ice and snow. Up to 40 miles to the gallon, regular gas. Things like that.
Suggested retail prices are: Renault Dauphine $1645; Renault 4CV $1345 P.O.E.

with a straight little jacket whose round collar is edged with a knit ruffle.

In the dress department, there is an Arnel and cotton with narrow stripes of olive (sand) and white, the white being an infinitely small cable. Narrow fly front, leather belt, collar folding back from a V-neck, three-quarter raglan sleeves. $25 and machine washable.

Washable dacron is the fabric used for a scarf print shirt-skirt ensemble. It's mostly paisley and stripes. Another duo is polished cotton ($10.98) with full skirt and a blouse with wide U neck and short wide sleeves.

Resisting the impulse to comment on the rain in Spain, we point out a raincoat from Spain in taupe or natural with fine detailing and a $29.98 price tag. Being Spanish, it is cheaper than its English counterpart but don't ask us why.

A Bon-Bon for Yum-Yum. Valentine's Day is Sunday and there is not a minute to lose. Chocolates are all over the place and we take you to three Princeton candy counters to show you what's good in hand-dips for 1960.

Viedt's will wrap and mail, of course, but get your order in fast, before it catches up with the chocolate Easter eggs. At Viedt's, you'll find Fanny Farmer dressed fit to kill in red satin, lace, foil and goodness knows what else. Top price for F.F. is $6 for a two-pound heart box. She also has a fat chocolate-covered marshmallow heart for 10 cents. Red foil keeps it modestly wrapped.

Whitman starts at 69 cents for a Valentine box suited to suitors with small allowances. The man is yellow, pink, blue or rose; some boxes have permanently pleated nylon ruffles and some have full-blown roses. Good, true chocolate beats under it all.

Giant heart lollypops at Viedt's have a motto heart in the middle of each. In the bulk, you may buy half-inch crystal cream hearts in white or red, and those breathlessly hot cinnamon hearts for 80 cents a pound.

Thorne has Russell Stover, and Candy Cupboard's immense pink satin heart so big it will take two to deliver it. Candy Cupboard also has a heart with blue ruffles, but who wants to be blue on Valentine's Day?

Stover packs half a dozen hearts, for fickle misses, in a long red box. A pure milk chocolate heart (two sizes) is wrapped in red foil for people with 59 cents or 98 cents to spend. Big lollypops here, too, for 29 cents.

At Louise Maas, Rosemarie de Paris is the favorite. These candies are especially fresh, especially made for February 14. A two-pound box is $5.50 or $8.50, or you may buy half a pound for $1.50. Cynthia is the lower-priced Rosemarie line: a standard heart box of Cynthia is $2 or $3.50.

Valentine favors for a party table will fill both heart and sweet tooth. Buy a pair of Walt Disney books, each about four inches high, bound with lollypops and a horn to toot: 45 cents.

From under the counter, buy crystal cream hearts by the bulk, in red or white, about an inch or more in length. Crystalline strawberry hearts, small and delicate, have the flavor of excellent strawberry jam. If its artificial flavor, it's better than the real thing.

Kahn of the Economics Department, Rutgers, and William D. Carmichael of the Economics Department, Princeton.

Plans for the meeting have been made by Mrs. David Brodsky, state tax chairman of the Princeton League, and the following members of her committee: Mrs. Rubin Braunstein, Mrs. C. Harry Kahn, Mrs. Robert Parmenter, Mrs. Irving Rabinowitz and Mrs. Jack Turner. The public is invited.

TAYLOR HONORED

On 70th Birthday. Sir Hugh Taylor, president of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation and dean emeritus of the Graduate School of Princeton University, marked his 70th birthday last Saturday and approximately 80 of his friends and colleagues attended a surprise luncheon at the Nassau Club in honor of the occasion.

Speakers at the luncheon included Dr. Harold W. Dodds, president emeritus of Princeton, and Maurice F. Healy, Jr., Sir Hugh's son-in-law. Dr. Hans Rosenhaupt, national director of the foundation, presided. Among the guests were President Robert F. Goheen of Princeton; Dr. Henry D. Smyth, Princeton faculty member and former AEC commissioner, and Dr. Jacques Maritain, former French ambassador to the Vatican and professor of philosophy emeritus at Princeton.

More than 200 educators, statesmen, scientists, learned societies and friends who were unable to be present at the luncheon sent congratulatory messages. Some of these were read by Dr. Rosenhaupt, including the following cablegram from Cardinal Tardini: "Occasion commemoration seventieth birthday his excellency Hugh Taylor: Holy Father extends cordial felicitations. Gladly imparts his paternal apostolic blessing."

Among others who sent messages were Herbert Hoover; President Nathan Pusey of Harvard; Paul van Zeeland, former premier of Belgium; President Goheen; President Courtney Smith of Swarthmore; Clarence Faust, vice president, Ford Foundation; Dr. Smyth, and Dr. G. B. Kistiakowsky, science advisor to President Eisenhower.

Joined Princeton in 1914. Sir Hugh, who joined the Princeton faculty in 1914, was senior member at the time of his retirement as dean of the Graduate School in 1958. Shortly afterwards he became the first president of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, which now makes available 1,200 awards annually for first year graduate work leading to careers in college teaching in the humanities and in the natural and social sciences.

Chairman of the Department of Chemistry at Princeton from 1926 to 1951, Sir Hugh is noted for his work in catalysis, photochemistry, radiochemistry and chemical kinetics. He has frequently been called into consultation by government and industry and in 1953, when he presided over the Faraday Societys Golden Jubilee Celebration in London, was twice knighted for his leadership in science and education. The Faraday Society is the world's leading society of physical chemists.

Knighted by Pope. In addition to being a knight commander of the Order of the British Empire, Sir Hugh was also created knight commander of the Papal Order of St. Gregory the Great by Pope Pius XII. The honor was given in recognition of his services as president of Pax Romana, International Catholic Movement for Intellectual and Cultural Affairs.

APPOINTED TO FACULTY

At Choir College. The Reverend Arlo D. Duba, teaching fellow at Princeton Theological Seminary, has been named assistant professor of religion, and assistant chaplain of Westminster Choir College. He will assume his new duties in September.

The Rev. Mr. Duba, who has been guest lecturer in Christian Education at Westminster Choir College for the past three years, has served as Dean of the School of Christian Life and Leadership of the Council of Churches of Greater Trenton and the Prince-

MUSIC
In Princeton

SCHWARZKOPF TO SING

In Lieder Program. Elisabeth Schwarzkopf, German soprano, will give the final concert in Series I of the Princeton University Concerts Monday at 8:30 p.m. in McCarter Theater.

Her program will include lieder by Schubert, Brahms, Wolf and Strauss. "Gretchen am Spinnerade," "An Sylvia," "Dear Einsame" and "An die Musik" will speak for Schubert and five of Wolf's "Songs for Voice and Piano" will represent that great composer of songs.

Among the Brahms songs chosen by Miss Schwarzkopf are "Liebestreu," "Meine Liebe is Gruen" and "Bei Dir sind meine Gedanken." Richard Strauss' "Ruhe, meine Seele," "Weigenliedschen" and "Ich schwebe" are included in Monday night's program. The concert was sold out by subscription but there will be 50 standing room spaces for sale at McCarter the evening of the concert.

AMATEURS TO SING BACH

Society Will Meet Sunday. Bach's "St. John Passion" will be sung by members of the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs when they meet this Sunday at 5 in the gymnasium of Miss Fine's School.

Dr. J. Merrill Knapp of the Department of Music of Princeton University will direct the amateur chorus and orchestra. All who wish to attend and to participate are invited.

Soloists will be Eleanor Holly, soprano; Racheel Armstrong, contralto; Robert Holland, tenor and Fadlou Shehadi, bass. Fred Rzewski, graduate student in the Department of Music, will accompany at the piano. Supper reservations should be made between 2 and 5 weekdays at WA 4-0453.

SEMINAR TO BE HELD

Will Repeat Musical Offering. A three-week summer Seminar in Advanced Musical Studies will again be held at Princeton University and 30 outstanding young musicians will be invited to participate in the program. The Seminar will start August 15.

The program will be substantially different from the Seminar offered in 1959 and will, therefore, be open to those who participated last summer, as well as to those applying for the first time.

The Seminar will consider analytical problems of contemporary music and the composition techniques required by electronic media. Participants will have an opportunity to watch the RCA Music Synthesizer, an electronic system for generating and imaginable musical tone.

Members may also submit their own compositions to a group of eight performers who will be in residence. Roger Sessions will again be the director of the Seminar, assisted by Milton Babbitt and Earl Kim, members of the University's Department of Music, Karl-Birger Blomdahl of Stockholm and Elliot Carter of New York.

Those who wish to apply may obtain application blanks and additional information from Mrs. Daniel Sayre, Clio Hall, Princeton. Applications must be received by April 1.

ELISABETH SCHWARZKOPF: The German soprano is one of the few singers equally at home in lieder and in opera. She will be heard at McCarter Theatre Monday night.

ton Pastors' Association. He has been consultant in leadership education to the Presbytery in New Brunswick for the past few years.

NERGAARD HONORED

Receives Sarnoff Award. Dr. Leon S. Nergaard, associate laboratory director of RCA Laboratories, has been named 1959 recipient of RCA's David Sarnoff Outstanding Achievement Award in Science. The award was established in 1956 to commemorate the 50th anniversary of Dr. Sarnoff's work in radio.

Dr. Nergaard was cited "for basic and practical contributions to the science of microwave electron tubes and thermionic cathodes." Dr. Nergaard has been with RCA since 1933 and since 1957 has been head of an electronic research laboratory group working on microwaves and gaseous electronics. He is presently engaged in research ranging from masers and parametric amplifiers to the use of microwaves to contain thermonuclear plasma.

A Fellow of the American Physical Society and the Institute of Radio Engineers, Dr. Nergaard is listed in Who's Who in Engineering and American Men of Science.

ELECTION SCHEDULED

For Fraternity Association. The annual election of officers for the Princeton-Delaware Valley Alumnae Association of Delta Gamma Fraternity will be held Tuesday at 8:30 at the home of Mrs. Edward Golden, 43 Hibben Road. The president, Mrs. Alexander P. Robinson, Franklin Park, will preside.

Final plans for the Founders Day luncheon to be held in March will be made. Plans for a Panhellenic Tea, to be given in April for fraternity women in the Princeton area, will be discussed.

MORE POWER TO WPRB

Campus Station Grows. Five and one-half million listeners in southern New York, New Jersey and eastern Pennsylvania will be able to hear WPRB, the University FM station, when its power is increased to 17,000 watts. Princeton Broadcasting Service, Inc., the nonprofit corporation that operates WPRB has received word that the Federal Communications Commission had approved its application for additional wattage.

The increase will make WPRB the largest student-operated station in the world, and the second-largest AM or FM station in New Jersey, according to Edwin P. Vanderwicken, Jr., chairman and station manager of WPRB. When the increase goes into effect, WPRB will change its frequency from 103.9 to 103.5 megacycles.

WPRB is accomplishing the boost by installing a new antenna, coaxial cable and broadcast amplifier Holder Tower, where the station's transmission equipment is located. The cost of installing the new equipment will be about $12,000.

Formed as an AM station in 1947, broadcasting five hours a day to 50 students, WPRB turned to commercial FM in 1955 and now broadcasts 15 hours a day. The station produces an annual fall political series, live broadcasts of the Princeton Symphony Orchestra's, concerts, sports programs, drama and news. Last spring, WPRB produced a two-part series on African nationalism which was re-broadcast by the Voice of America.

LEGION PLANS DANCE

For Valentine's Fete. Princeton Post 76, American Legion, will hold a buffet supper and dance next Saturday, February 13, at the Post's headquarters.

William Haupt is head of the committee in charge of the event. Tickets are available through Mr. Haupt, or at the Post home any Wednesday, Thursday, Friday or Saturday evening.

DR. HIGHET TO LECTURE

ON "Anatomy of Satire." A series of four lectures on "The Anatomy of Satire" will be given by Dr. Gilbert Highet, professor of Latin at Columbia University and a member of the Book-of-the-Month Club's board of judges.

They will begin Thursday in 10 McCosh Hall at 8.

The title of the first lecture is "Some Problems of Satire: Form and Purpose." The other three, to be given February 18, February 25 and March 3, will cover "Diatribe," "Parody and Hoax," and "The Distorting Mirror: Some Conclusions."

Dr. Highet has been on the Columbia faculty since 1935, and is the author of "The Classical Tradition: Greek and Roman Influences on Western Literature," "The Art of Teaching," "Man's Unconquerable Mind," and many other books. For the past eight years, he has presented a weekly radio program on literature, art and music, called "People, Places and Books."

PRISONER WORK TOPIC

At Kiwanis Meeting. The work program in New Jersey penal and correctional institutions will be discussed this Thursday at a meeting of the Princeton Kiwanis Club, to be held at Nassau Inn. Speaker will be John C. Bonnell, chief of the Bureau of State Use Industries of the State Department of Institutions and Agencies. His topic is "Should Prisoners Work?"

The work program of the State Use Industries provides training and employment for more than 1,000 inmates while at the same time producing savings for taxpayers, since proceeds from the sale of goods and services help to defray expenses of the program. Typical products include the new license plates, road signs, clothing, furniture and canned goods. They are sold only to tax-supported institutions and agencies and to New Jersey municipalities.

NO MORE HOWARD JOHNSON

Dining Halls Change. The 17-year reign of Howard Johnson in the University dining halls will terminate at the end of this school year and the halls will be included thereafter in the Food Services Department of the University under Arnold Strohkorb.

The original agreement with the restaurant chain was sealed with only a handshake, according to Robert L. Johnstone, business manager of the University. It is coming to an end because the Howard Johnson enterprises have expanded in the restaurant and motor lodge fields, and have therefore decided to discontinue catering facilities.

Over the course of the 17 years, the Howard Johnson services have provided about 25 million meals to Princeton students. Mr. Johnstone, in making announcement, explained that food operations have expanded to such an extent on the campus that it seems best to combine all operations in one center unit.

MEET MISS NEW JERSEY! Beverly Ann Domerecki, who led the line of models at the benefit fashion show sponsored by the English Shop last Friday at the Nassau Inn. Proceeds went to the Chapin School.

MEMORIAL PROPOSED

For Woodrow Wilson. Harrison A. Williams, Jr., New Jersey's Democratic Senator, has introduced a bill to create a commission which would plan for a Washington memorial to Woodrow Wilson, who was governor of New Jersey and president of Princeton University before he became the 28th president of the United States.

Forty-five Senators joined Mr. Williams as co-sponsors at the time of introduction, and members of the New Jersey and Virginia delegations in the House of Representatives introduced an identical bill at the same time. The New Jersey Senator has suggested that the proposed commission might consider an international fund-raising effort to finance the costs of a memorial, if the commission decides that a public fund drive is necessary.

"The store of international good-will for Wilson might encourage the Commission to decide that global efforts might be made," said Senator Williams. "Men in many homelands might wish to contribute, for example, to a 'Pavilion of All Nations' which could be built as a related structure to a monument of functional building."

"OPEN HOUSE" TOUR SET

For May 14. The seventh Spring "Open House" tour of Princeton homes has been scheduled for May 14. A group of 10 historic and modern homes will be included in the tour, which will run from 12:30 to 5 p.m. Proceeds will go to the scholarship funds of the Radcliffe Alumnae Club of Princeton and the Trenton-Princeton Mount Holyoke Alumnae Club.

Mrs. William H. Cherry will serve as chairman. Committee members include Mrs. Paul E. Orr, Jr., president of the Mount Holyoke Club; Mrs. James Thorpe, president of the Radcliffe Club; Mrs. Clement B. Malin, Mrs. George F. Thomas, Miss Phyllis Riley, Mrs. Raymond Grow, Mrs. Henry R. Martin, Mrs. Thomas M. Page, Mrs. David Brodsky, Mrs. Noel Sokoloff and Mrs. Herrymon Maurer.

SPEAKERS AVAILABLE

From Mental Health Center. Organizations interested in obtaining speakers for their programs may now call on the resources of the speakers' bureau at the Edward R. Johnstone Training and Research Center for mentally retarded young people, located in Bordentown.

Speakers are available for talks on programs for the mentally retarded, the need for services to exceptional children, vocational rehabilitation, trends in research and similar topics. Additional information may be obtained from Dr. Erbert F. Cicenia, assistant superintendent, AXminster 8-2500, ext. 331.

NEW SHOP TO OPEN

For Antique Collectors. The Leopard's Head, a shop which will be devoted to the sale of fine antique silver, will open about February 20 at 12 Chambers Street. Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Schuster, 4 Hawthorne Avenue, are the owners of the new establishment.

The Leopard's Head derives its name from the town mark of London, said to be the earliest known mark on old silver. A guild of goldsmiths in London is mentioned in a document dating back to 1180 and the guild itself was incorporated in 1327. An ordinance passed in 1238 regulated the quality of silver and an act of Parliament in 1300 established the marking system that has existed ever since.

Fine 17th and 18th century furniture, American and English, will also be exhibited and sold at the Leopard's Head, and paintings will be available from time to time. Mr. and Mrs. Schuster have collected fine antique silver for many years and Mr. Schuster has been a buyer of antiques for New York shops.

GULF HONORS LEASEE

Mr. Schell Receives Award. Robert L. Schell, leasee of a Gulf service station at the Penns Neck traffic circle, has received a $50 United States Savings Bond and a certificate from the Gulf Oil Corporation citing his service to motorists and to his community.

The honor is presented to Gulf dealers who, in the opinion of Gulf management, provide "superior service to the motorist, and who give valuable time and effort to various community interests and projects and who maintain clean and efficient service stations." Mr. Schell has been a Gulf dealer since 1956.

"MISTER SERVICE" HERE

To Aid Home Cleaning. Edward J. Orlowsky, formerly vice-president of Princeton Manor Construction Company, will operate "Mister Service," a complete maintainence service for homes and industries, in Mercer, Middlesex, Hunterdon, Monmouth and Ocean Counties.

The new service provides rug, upholstery and wall cleaning; floor maintenance and furniture polishing, utilizing modern methods and improved equipment. "Mister Service" combines these services in a complete package.

A graduate of Woodbridge High School, Mr. Orlowsky attended Rutgers Preparatory School and received his BA degree from St. Lawrence University. He and his wife and their two children live at 160 Spruce Street.

Bank Cited for Gain

Princeton Bank and Trust Company was cited last week in "The American Banker" for "having made a spectacular gain of 27 positions in rank since a year ago." The bank now occupies 730th place, the highest position it has ever held.

According to George R. Cook, III, president of the bank, the rating means that out of more than 14,000 banks in the United States, there are only 729 with more deposits than Princeton Bank and Trust.

In the last six years, the bank has advanced from position 127, a gain of 507 places. This is an outstanding accomplishment for a country bank, Mr. Cook said. It is now the largest bank in Mercer County outside of Trenton.

GULF HONORS HIM: Robert L. Schell, Gulf dealer, who has received an award for service.

TURNER AT CONFERENCE

Of American Bankers Assn. Gilbert C. Turner, vice president and trust officer of the First National Bank of Princeton, attended the mid-Winter Trust Conference this week of the American Bankers Association. The conference was held at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York.

As head of the First National's Trust Department, Mr. Turner has chief responsibility for administration of the bank's trusts and estates. He is also secretary of the Trust Committee of the New Jersey Bankers Association.

GAS SALE DATA OFFERED

By New Research Firm. The first continuous market data available on retail gasoline sales will be provided by a new research firm, Market Dynamics, Inc. The new company, which is owned by Opinion Research Corporation of Princeton and Field Research Company of San Francisco, will have its headquarters in Princeton with branch offices in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Joseph C. Bevis, chairman of the board of directors of Opinion Research, will serve as president of Market Dynamics, Inc. Mervin D. Field, president of Field Research, will be executive vice president.

Market Dynamics, Inc., will make a continuing survey of retail gasoline sales in major metropolitan areas through its National Retail Gasoline Audit. Areas in which data will be supplied will include sales ratio of premium and regular gasolines, by brand; compression ratios of automobiles fueled; age of automobiles; price levels of each grade of fuel; customer characteristics; brand share of market and service station characteristics.

CONTRACT AWARDED

To Ortholog Division. A contract for $82,300 for an "advanced telemetering data detector" has been awarded to the Ortholog Division of Gulton Industries by the Telemetering Branch of the Flight Control Laboratory of Wright Air Development Division, Dayton, O. The Ortholog Division, which was organized in 1959, is located in Princeton Junction.

The contract calls for the development of electronic equipment for separating instrumentation type data from its noise background. This task, which will employ the latest techniques in information theory and statistical data analysis, relates directly to the problems of obtaining optimum information in biological instrumentation and space vehicle communication.

QUIET WEEKEND

Tigers on the Road. Little in the way of spectator sports is on the weekend schedule for Princetonians as Orange and Black entries in most leagues head out of town.

The swimming team, looking forward to next year when a strong freshman squad is expected to help it move up the ladder, will entertain Navy in Dillon Pool Saturday at 3:30. A fencing match at 2 against Pennsylvania is the only other home event.

Princeton's basketball team will place a string of five straight on the line when it invades Cornell's big Barton Hall Friday night. The Tigers return home by way of New York Saturday, facing last-place Columbia that evening.

Victory at Ithaca will be an upset, since only Dartmouth of the eight teams in the circuit has the apparent ability to win on the road. Cornell dropped a pair of games away from home last weekend, the setbacks at the hands of Harvard and Dartmouth costing the Ithacans possession of second place, which they vacated to Princeton.

Rally Tops Yale. An unimpressive first half that saw it trail, 38-31, at the intermission despite a 43 percent shooting average had the Tigers in trouble last Saturday. A far tighter defense than they had employed during the first period rectified matters, however, the home forces cutting the Eli output from 38 to 22 points for a total of 60. When they maintained their satisfactory shooting average and pumped in 38 points of their own in the final round, the Tigers won by nine, 69-60.

Yale captain Dan McFadden all but closed the gap between himself and sophomore Pete Campbell of Princeton in the individual scoring race, getting 24 while Campbell was pegged at 18, his lowest output in half a dozen Ivy games this season. McFadden now has 128—two less than Campbell, and both have eight games left.

All five Princeton starters (who again played the full game) finished in double figures. Campbell's 16 were matched by Captain Jim Brangan; sophomore Al Kaemmerlen (see "We Congratulate," page 25) had 14. Don Swan, 13, and Mike Burton, 10.

The Tigers trailed by eight during a good part of the first half, but Yale came back cold and the margin was erased in the first five minutes of the final period. From 43-42, Princeton moved out to a lead that ranged from three to nine points, but the Elis kept the pressure on until the final two minutes. Extremely good foul shooting by the Tigers (21 out of 28) told the story, as the losers sank 25 field goals, one more than Cappy Cappon's forces.

HOCKEY TEAM WINS

Blanks Cornell, 10-0. An easy triumph over last place Cornell at Ithaca Saturday brought the Princeton hockey team even with the .500 mark in league standings. The Tigers gained some ground on the front-runners as Harvard surprised Dartmouth with a 3-1 victory at Hanover, and will move forward on Saturday if they can handle Yale at New Haven.

The current standings show defending champion Dartmouth, Harvard and Yale all tied for first place with six points apiece. The Elis edged Brown, 6-5, in sudden-death overtime last weekend but their two other triumphs are over last-place Cornell.

Brown and Princeton are also deadlocked with four points each, but the Bruins have lost three and Princeton only two. Cornell is virtually certain to repeat in the cellar with an 0-10 record, but the future is brighter: a Tiger freshman team that had won seven of eight was beaten by the Cornell freshmen, 2-1, and the latter have trimmed their varsity handily.

Tigers Score Quickly. Cornell provided little opposition last weekend, Princeton moving in front as quickly as 0:25 of the first period on a goal by Pete Cook, who was assisted by Captain John McBride. McBride's two goals and three assists raised his point total for the season to 38, and that virtually assures him of breaking his all-time Princeton record of 44.

Three goals in the first period, three more in the second and four in the final round completed the rout. The second line, now composed of Doug Davis, Hugh Scott and Billy Miller, took part in four of the goals, and hopes are that it will provide added punch in the games to come.

Junior Mickey Michel was in the cage for Princeton, earning a well-deserved shutout despite the fact that he was called on to make only 14 saves. Barry Van Gerbig, who had been charged with 13 goals in the Providence and Brown games, was given a rest by Coach Norm Wood.

NEW RECORD IN SIGHT: Starting the week with 38 points and eight games left, Captain John McBride seems certain to break all-time Princeton hockey scoring mark of 44 points he set last winter.

PHS LOSES 7TH STRAIGHT

In 62-38 Defeat by BMI. A game with Hamilton High School Friday and one with Lawrenceville Wednesday will end Princeton High School's five-game skein away from home. It will play its last two contests of the season at home against Steinert and Hightstown.

In losing to Bordentown Military Institute last Wednesday, PHS dropped its seventh in a row and eleventh of the season. With only two wins under its belt, it now appears likely that the Little Tigers will be unable to better last year's record in which they won four contests.

Sports In Princeton

Cadet Ray Ratkowski was the big gun for the home team scoring 27 points to lead his mates to victory. The Blue and White, down seven points at the endof the first quarter and 18 at the half, never threatened.

High for the losers was Jimmy Barbour with nine. He was followed by Ted Meredith with eight and Jack Hawkins with six. Jack Lackey, still not fully recovered from his illness, sat out his second straight game.

In a preliminary contest, the BMI javees defeated the PHS javees, 50-36.

HUN ELIMINATED

As League Contender. A last minute loss to Solebury last week eliminated the Hun basketball team from contention in the newly-formed Penn-Jersey League. In beating Hun for the second time this season, Solebury virtually assured itself of capturing top honors.

The loss of this must game was especially bitter for the Red and Black in that after falling behind by 10 in the third quarter, it had rallied in the final period, using a full court press, to go ahead. It was unable to maintain its lead, however, and with two minutes to play and the score tied, it fell behind to lose, 54-51.

The defeat also dropped Hun (now 4-4) to the .500 mark. "We can't win the close ones," coach George Selleck said after the game, adding in extenuation of his young squad (there is only one senior on the varsity), "The kids are all a year away."

High scorer for the losers was Captain Lou D'Ambrosio with 16 points. He was followed by Paul Kadlic with 12 who connected with a lot of jump shots from outside. Top rebounder for Hun, Dave Savidge, fell off somewhat in grabbing eleven.

HUN REBOUNDS

Tops Bryn Athyn Again, 65-43. The Hun basketball team will play host to Chestnut Hill this Thursday afternoon at 3 in the Seminary Gymnasium. Saturday it meets Delbarton away, always a tough game for the Red and Black, especially when played on the Delbarton court, and on Tuesday it returns home to face Tower Hill to round out a busy week.

Against Bryn Athyn Saturday, its first opponent and first victim of the season, Hun raced to a commanding 23-1 lead in the first seven minutes of play. The home team used a zone press in the first quarter with spectacular success.

Hitting on nearly 80 per cent of its shots in those first seven minutes, mostly lay-ups from fast break plays, Hun ran faster, shot better, picked up more loose balls and set up its plays with more precision to account for its lopsided lead. Captain Lou D'Ambrosio, high man for both teams with 17, led the first quarter rout with 11 points.

Bill Gilman with 13 markers and Al Landis with nine points and eight rebounds also turned in fine performances for Hun. Although he did not figure prominently in the scoring, Tommy Petrone did a tremenduous job in feeding the ball on the fast break. In fact, everybody managed to wind up in the scoring column as Coach George Selleck emptied the Hun bench.

The victory moved Hun above the .500 mark to 5-4. With five games remaining, the Red and Black has a good chance to register its first winning season in several years.

ST. PAUL'S VICTOR

Over Holy Cross. Joe Luhrman with 23 points and Bill Barkley's 12 led St. Paul's to its fifth basketball win in six starts as the Cavaliers beat Holy Cross, 69-51.

The outcome of the game was decided in the first period, St. Paul's jumping to a 10-point lead. St. Paul's will play host to Cathedral of Trenton next on its home court.

WE Congratulate

AL KAEMMERLEN

Princeton Center

Same week that the Princeton basketball season started last December, sophomore Al Kaemmerlen had yet to report for action. There was good reason: an operation for a knee injury sustained during a summer pickup game in the sport had not been fully checked out by his doctor, and the 6-4 center was not yet medically cleared for competition.

As late as November, Kaemmerlen's participation in the sport during any part of the 1959-60 season was in serious doubt. By the second week in December, however, he was pronounced fit and the principal obstacles to game action became ability to round into shape and a need for sustained practice.

Playing briefly at first in post-Christmas games, the big (205-lb.) Haverford High School alumnus has made steady progress and now spearheads a Tiger defense that has been a major factor in the team's current five-game winning streak. Best of all, Kaemmerlen's stamina is such that he now goes 40 minutes (45 in the overtime victory against Rutgers) as a member of a typical Cappon "iron-man" five.

Not always in double figures, the big sophomore is most noticeable on the court for his ability to block opponents' shots through his fine timing. On several occasions, he has executed the perfect defensive play: a blocked field goal attempt followed by recovery of the ball.

At 6-4 the tallest starting Princetonian but rarely as tall as the opposing center, Kaemmerlen nonetheless often leads both teams in rebounds. He did so with 14 in the uphill victory Saturday against Yale—a contest in which he was charged with only two personal fouls while his opponent sat out much of the game with four before leaving when tagged with a fifth. Kaemmerlen's six out of seven from the free-throw line were not only a major factor in the Princeton triumph, but did much to keep the Tigers in the top ten nationally in team foul shooting with an average close to 75 percent.

Expectations are that Dartmouth's veteran outfit will retain its championship this season, and it may be that Princeton will eventually lose its current runner-up spot. But whereas four of the Indians' starters graduate in June, four of Princeton's regulars return. Al Kaemmerlen will be one of them, and there is plenty of reason to believe that he'll be even better next year.

Question Of The Week

lation explosion is largely a question of propaganda and one that is highly over-rated.

Mrs. Richard Savage, 24 Dickinson Street, housewife: I think there needs to be more education on the problem before we can say one solution is better than another. I think each individual nation will have to decide what solution is best for its inhabitants. The same solution won't work for every country. Illegitimacy is looked upon in different lights in different countries, for example. I myself can offer no solution to the problem because I don't know enough about it.

Guy A. Bensinger Jr., 219 Washington Road, manager of real estate office: I don't think there is any problem, really. I think there is lots and lots of room for the population of the world even if it doubled. Expansion is inevitable but I still believe there is room for all. I fly all over this country and there are vast expanses of land that are available, even though we have Levittown's popping up all around us.

Mrs. Richard DeSohrina, 172 Nassau Street, housewife: I think the United States could do a great deal more than it does about a more equal distribution of food. We could distribute our surpluses much more effectively. This country is so wasteful of its land and everything else it makes and uses. The U.S. could live much more conservatively and support many more people than it does. And we could do it much more diplomatically than we are at the moment.

Howard Schrader, Lillie Street, Princeton Junction, photographer: The problem isn't to keep the birth rate down — we ought to have more children, not less. How can you control something that is natural? Birth control is unnatural and uncalled for. Instead of controlling birth, why not help the people in backward countries rise to a higher educational plane in which they would be able to solve for themselves how to take care of their numbers? The more people that are born the more chance there is that another Einstein will be among them to help solve the population problem.

Mrs. Muriel L. Koch, Griggstown, occupational therapist, Ten Acre Foundation: I think that the world can support its growing population if it would spread out into the areas that are not being used. It could do this if it could overcome, through advances, the faults of such terrain that prohibits its use. Siberia is doing it now!

Leo Kney, Maplevale Drive, Yardley, salesman: Off hand, I realize that people are living longer and that there is a lower mortality rate at birth. However, the people that are living longer via medical science are able to still add to the economic growth of their country, and therefore caring for themselves for a longer period of time. As far as overpopulation per se, I believed that unused lands can be utilized through irrigation and other means and that we are learning to cope with areas always thought to be uninhabitable, such as the recent polar expeditions. All these things should help us to take care of the so-called over-population problem.

Mrs. Audrey Cranstoun, Carter Road, waitress: I don't think it is an immediate problem, at least not in the next, say, 25-30 years. By then, I think a future war will have solved the problem. Goodness knows, I'm not for war, but I think another one may be pending

CONTINENTALS TRIUMPH

Wallop St. Peter & Paul's. Tony Bucconfuso and Ray Tamasi, scoring 66 points between them, led the Princeton Continentals to their second victory in as many starts, as they beat St. Peter & Paul's, 112-60. The rebounding of Dick Olsen also played a large part in the one-sided victory.

The Continentals will meet Immaculate Conception (Trenton) Sunday at 2 at the St. Paul's Gymnasium. A record hop dance will follow the game. Admission will be 30 cents.

TIGER BUS ROLLS 1026

High Team Game of Season. Highlight of Princeton's bowling action last week was a 1026 game shot by the Tiger Bus team in the "B" League. It was a season high, beating the 1015 of Jefferson Plumbing two weeks ago. Leading the "B" loop is the Sportsmen No. 2 team with 10 points.

In the women's leagues, Anthony's swept a three-game series to lead the Industrial teams by one game over three other teams, while Conover Motors (26) continued to pace the Princeton Women's loop. The Wheeler team leads Scuderati (42) by three points in the Mixed League.

Shelton Motors and Nelson Glass, with 20 points each, shared first place in the "A" league, and the Industrial League, starting its second half of play, also had co-leaders, Tiger Garage and Wengryn Construction, who swept their opening series. In the Faculty League, Machine Development moved into first place by one point over Physics (23) as it went through its third straight week undefeated.

Top individual game of the week was registered by Percy Kletskin with 244 in the "A" loop. Other notable scores included Pete Homan and Bill Dumble, 212 each, in the "A" league; George Seikel, 212-201-226; Jim Kehny 207-206-188; Don Snyder, 234; Larry Golden, 225; Howard McWhatter, 215; Claude Pinelli, 214; Joe Baldino, 213; and Mike Pinelli, 210, in the "B" league; and Pete Wengryn, 226-234; Rudy Lehnert, 233; and Pete Homan, 211, in the Industrial League.

Leading the Women's League were Ann Pfister, 201, and Gladys Wheeler, 200, followed by Helen Lowe, 189; Barbara Densen, 186; Elizabeth Brown, 183; and Merilyn Lowe, 181. Tops in the Wom-

NATIONAL ELECTRICAL WEEK

ELECTRICITY
sparks the '60s

The electrical age has arrived . . .
it's here with us today!

What does this mean to our youth? It means that they have the opportunity to chart their educational courses along lines which will train them for work in the electric industry. They should study the sciences — mathematics — physics — trigonometry . . . all the courses which train students to become graduate engineers.

We must take the lead in science if we are to continue to be a strong nation. During National Electric Week, talk to our youth and to our teachers about the value of training through education for the engineering professions.

LECTURES SCHEDULED

For Friday, Wednesday. Shaw Livermore of the History Department of Princeton University will speak this Friday at the February platform meeting of the Ethical Culture Fellowship of Princeton, to be held at 8:30 p.m. at Princeton YMCA, Avalon Place. He will discuss Abraham Lincoln and some of the ethical dilemmas which Lincoln faced. The meeting is open to the public.

Fiuel lecture in the public University of Life series will be given next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at Princeton Methodist Church. Roy McCorkel of the American Friends Service Committee will talk on "Church-State Relations: Harmony or Conflict?" Joel Nystrom will serve as moderator and panel members will be Harvey Hook, Mrs. Donald Rugg and Robert Major.

INTERNATIONAL TEA SET

At Calvary Baptist. A county-wide tea for students from abroad who are currently attending educational institutions in Mercer County will be held this Sunday at 3 p.m. at Calvary Baptist Church, Princeton. Members of Baptist churches throughout the county have been invited to attend and meet the students.

The tea is being sponsored by the women of the Trenton Baptist Association. Miss Harriet Clemens is general chairman and Mrs. C. Howard Hopkins is in charge of Princeton arrangements.

NEW TEXTBOOK PLANNED

For Religion Courses. Plans for a non-secterion textbook of ethics for use in senior courses at the secondary level and college freshman courses were made this week in an academic conference at the Lawrenceville School. Six chaplains and teachers of religion participated in the conference.

Robert S. Wicks, chairman of the Department of Religion at Lawrenceville, headed the group. Members were William Sloane Coffin, dean of the Chapel, Yale University; Irving R. Levey, chaplain to Jewish students at Princeton University; Frederick Pease, assistant chaplain at Phillips Andover Academy; C. Frederick Buechner, chairman of religion at Phillips Exeter Academy and Robert R. Wicks, chaplain at Phillips Exeter.

BULLETIN NOTES

Two visitors to Princeton will be among those preaching at 11 a.m. this Sunday. They are the Very Rev. Dr. Francis B. Sayre, Jr., who will give the sermon at the University Chapel, and Dr. J. Norman D. Anderson, who will preach at Westerly Road Church.

The Very Rev. Dr. Sayre is dean of the Washington Cathedral, chairman of the board of the United States Committee for Refugees, and a member of the Advisory Committee on the Arts for the National Cultural Center in Washington. Dr. Anderson, professor of Islamic Law at London University, was a visiting professor at Princeton University in the Fall of 1958. He is also a former missionary to Egypt.

The Women's Group of the Kendall Park Jewish Community Center will meet this Thursday at 8:30 p.m. at the center. Hostesses will be Mrs. Steven Klevans, Mrs. Sidney Matz and Mrs. Harry Salls.

A teen-age dance, open to all young people in Princeton who are in grades 9 through 12, will be held this Saturday from 8 to 11:30 p.m. at Pierce Hall of Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street. The dance, called "Cupid's Caper," is being sponsored by Trinity Teens. Richard Hurford and his dance band, The Swingin' Shepherds, will play, and there will be intermission entertainment by Kai Soderman, singer and guitarist. Tickets, at 75 cents each, will be available at the door.

The newly-organized Women's Association of Community Presbyterian Church of the Sand Hills, Kendall Park, will hold a Charter Night program next Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the home of the president, Mrs. Wilburt Reich, 10 Wheeler Road. New officers will be installed by Mrs. Elmaar Bakken, president of the Presbyterial Society of New Brunswick.

Obituaries

Dr. Thomas Marc Parrott, 93, professor emeritus of English at Princeton University and a former resident of Lawrenceville, died February 5 in a Neshanic nursing home. The husband of the late Mary Adamson Parrott, he was an authority on Elizabethan drama, and gave courses in Shakespeare and Victorian Literature as well.

A graduate of Princeton with the class of 1888, he won the Class of 1859 prize in English literature and the Baird Poetry Prize, and was editor of the Nassau Literary Magazine. He gained his doctorate from Leipzig University in 1893 following two years of teaching at Miami University in Ohio. He was born in Dayton, Ohio.

Dr Parrott taught at the Lawrenceville School for two years after his return from Leipzig, and then joined Princeton's faculty. After six years, he was named a full professor. His publications include "A Companion of Victorian Literature," whose co-author is Thomas B. Martin, and "William Shakespeare — A Handbook."

He is survived by two sons, Lindesay M. Parrott, United Nations correspondent for The New York Times, and D'Arcy Parrott, an executive on the staff of Forbes Magazine; and a daughter, Mrs. Anthony Walters of Rock Hall, Md. Dean Ernest Gordon officiated at the service, held at the Kimble Funeral Home.

Burial was in Lawrenceville Cemetery. A memorial service will be held this Sunday at 4 in the University Chapel.

Christopher Kenny, 85, who had lived in the home of his daughter, Miss Anne Kenny of 114 Alexander Street since 1958, died February 6 in Princeton Hospital. The husband of the late Margaret L. Kenny, he was a former resident of New York City. Until his retirement, he was on the board of water supply for New York City, and helped design and construct the city's present water supply system.

In addition to his daughter in Princeton, he is survived by two sons, the Rev. Joseph R. Kenny and Christopher Kenny Jr.; seven daughters, Sister M. Patritius S.S.J., Miss Catherine Kenny, Mrs. Margaret Prindle, Miss Helen Kenny, Mrs. Edith Quinlan, Mrs. Elizabeth Gilroy and Mrs. Louise Rowney; 20 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Solemn requiem mass was held in St. Rose of Lima Church in Brooklyn with interment in St. John's Cemetery, Woodside, N.Y. Local arrangements were under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Mrs. Viola Mount Adams, 73, a native of Cranbury, died February 3 in Miami, Fla. after a brief illness. She had lived in Miami for 20 years, and was a former resident of Trenton.

She is survived by three sons, Harold C. Adams of Hightstown, Ernest W. Adams of Trenton, and Allen G. Mount of Miami; five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. The Rev. Norman DePuy, pastor of the Hightstown Baptist Church, officiated at the funeral, held in Cranbury. Interment was in Greenwood Cemetery, Trenton.

Mrs. Catherine K. Jelliffe, 79, of 14 South Stanworth Drive, died February 2 in Princeton Hospital, following a short illness. Born in Newark, she was the widow of Dr. William R. Jelliffe who died two months ago.

Her survivors include a sister, Mrs. Irene M. Douglass of Mentor, Ohio; a nephew, Gordon K. Douglass of Oakland, Md. and a niece, Mrs. Henrik Haskell in Denmark. The service was held in the University Chapel with Dean Ernest Gordon officiating. Interment was in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, Newark, under the direction of the Mather Funeral Home.

Mrs. Josephine Robinson, 34, of Mercer Street, Hightstown died suddenly February 3 at her home. She is survived by her father, the Rev. Rudolph Bryant of New York City; two brothers, Henry Bryant of Savannah, Ga., and Rudolph Bryant Jr. of New York City; and two sisters, Mrs. Helen Blanford of Savannah and Mrs. Hattie M. Williams of New York City.

The service was held in Richmond Hill, Ga., with interment at the convenience of the family.

Sports In Princeton

en's Industrial were Betty Frazer, 189; Joan Ainsworth, 187; Millie Trani, 184; and Betty Steck, 181. Other high scores included Pat Walker, 181, in the Mixed League, and Jay Lucker, 212, in the Faculty League.

TIGERS TROUNCE A.I.C.

Princeton Wins, 13-2. The Princeton hockey team tuned up for its Saturday meeting with Yale by thumping an outmanned American International sextet Tuesday night, 13-2. A seven-goal outburst in the second period punctuated the fracas, which was marked by three major penalties.

Captain John McBride paced the Orance and Black with four goals and an assist as the Tigers moved out to a 5-0 lead before yielding a tally. McBride's work for the evening brought him within one-point of matching his output for the 1959 season.

Peter Cook, first-line center, set up four goals with as many assists and added one himself. Tony Pell, the other member of the starting trio, was credited with three assists, while defenseman Tommy Campbell had the biggest night of all with two goals and four assists.

The losers were handed two major penalties, one for drawing blood after a slash, and one for fighting. A.I.C.'s Ed Kozub and Paul Burgert, Princeton defenseman, were banished a couple of minutes before the end for staging a slugging match.

PHS LOSES TO EWING

Quintet Beaten, 78-50. A first quarter in which it could score only six points while yielding 23 sealed Princeton High School's doom against Ewing Tuesday night, as the Little Tiger basketball team dropped its 12th of the season. It was a 78-50 final.

The victors, playing on their own court, rolled up a 41-19 lead by half-time and had a 68-31 margin by the end of three periods before the reserves took over. Jack Hawkins with 13 was the lone Princetonian in double figures.

PCD SIX SPLITS

As Smayer Gets Hat Trick. Three goals by Bill Smoyer helped Princeton Country Day School's hockey team come from behind Tuesday to trim the Lawrenceville juniors, 6-4. Peter Morse, with two, and Pete Kirkpatrick also caged shots for PCD during a four-goal final period.

Last week, Lawrenceville racked up a 5-3 triumph with two goals in the third round. Kirkpatrick, Smoyer and Dave Tibbals scored for the Blue and White.

The PCD basketball team dropped three games during the past week, the setbacks leaving it with a 1-7 record. Victors were the Peddie Juniors, 41-37; Rumson Country Day, 26-22; and Lawrence Junior High, 36-38.

Pepper Pettit paced the Broadmead quintet on two occasions, sinking 23 points against Peddie. Jack McCarthy with 10 was high man against Rumson, in a game limited to members of the fourth and fifth forms.

People With a Sense of Style Are Buying In

Princeton Manor

Children can romp in the spacious surrounding woods, Mother will delight in the convenience to shopping and schools, and Father will appreciate the solid construction of our homes as a wise capital gains hedge against inflation.

The Princeton Manor Construction Co. will build from your ideas, your architect's plans, or from over 200 designs in our files — on your lot or our land. Locally owned and managed, the Princeton Manor Construction Co. is currently building fifteen to twenty custom-built homes a year in Central New Jersey. Consult our list of building sites in the Princeton area. You may use your lot as all or part of the down payment on your new home. A few of our extra services are unusually favorable financing and free consultation with an interior decorator.

Visit our display Home open every day except Wednesday from noon 'til dusk

From the center of Princeton go east on Nassau St. for 1 mile, turn left on Snowden Lane to Franklin Ave., left 1 block and right on Grover Ave. to 136 Randall Rd. and Display Home.

PRINCETON TOWNSHIP

The idea and then the house—It took the owners several years to find the ideal location, and many meetings with the architect to produce this fine Colonial home. The result, we think, is impressive, very practical, and quite gracious. Call us so we may describe or show this spacious house and its three wooded acres.

$52,500

PRINCETON BOROUGH

You will look long and hard to match this one: A brick center hall Colonial typifying the best of post-war construction. First floor has living room (14 x 25 with fireplace), an adjoining den, a separate but spacious dining room, a truly large kitchen with every convenience. Second floor has three double bedrooms and two baths. Also there is a finished and sectioned basement with pine-panelled game room, two lavatories. Two-car garage.

PRINCETON BOROUGH

This rambler should be the answer to many small families who want the tree-lined quiet street, the convenient location and the quality of one of Princeton's most reliable builders. This house has three bedrooms, an efficiency kitchen, a spacious living room with fireplace and loads of storage in a full, dry basement.

LAWRENCE TOWNSHIP
NASSAU ESTATES

Looking for value—we feel you can't duplicate, nor even approximate this one. A spacious split-level with many different and distinguishing features, both structural and decorative. Of course, there are three bedrooms, a bath and two lavatories, but this is only part of the picture; the upkeep, the plantings, and the many extras really spell the difference. Real Value at

$20,800

PRINCETON TOWNSHIP

The location couldn't be more convenient, nor could it be nicer—close to schools, University and shopping. The Colonial-design and the well-shrubbed lot make an ideal setting. The room arrangement is both pleasant and workable. The living room is spacious and has a fireplace. There are three bedrooms and 1½ baths; also, lots of storage. Act quickly.

NEAR PENNINGTON

A beautiful stone front ranch house on an acre and a half of lawn and fine shrubbery.

House is almost new and completely modern. Large living room with stone fireplace. A huge family room, 20 x 30, knotty pine panelled and lots of glass. A modern kitchen with beautiful birch cabinets, electric stove and stainless steel sink and a panelled breakfast room. The three bedrooms have plenty of closets. Large bath with enclosed tub, hot water heat.

The enclosed porch has a stone floor and jalousies, patio, awnings, combination screen and storm sash.

This is the type house you would build for yourself but at a far greater cost.

NEAR HOPEWELL

An attractive well-kept home, only seven years old. Living room with fireplace, dining room, modern electric kitchen, four bedrooms, two baths, and attached garage. Spacious lot. Taxes only $350.
